Small Held Without Bail on Murder Charge

BROKER IS HELD FOR JURY

Small to Be Confined in Jail Until December Sitting; Counsel Surprised by the Decision

Mountainview, N. H., Oct. 6.—Frederick L. Small, the Boston real estate broker, was today ordered held for the Grand Jury, charged with murdering his wife, following a hearing before Judge Charles S. Miles.

The Grand Jury will meet in December to take up Small's case. In the meantime he will remain in jail.

At the close of the hearing Attorney Matthews, Small's senior counsel, issued the following statement:

"I am surprised at Small's being held. I do not believe there is a scintilla of competent testimony to hold the man. I am confident that if he is indicted, which I do not believe probable, we can show the world he is an innocent man."

Small was taken from the courtroom to the Central House, where he had lunch prior to his trip to the Ossipee jail.

Mr. Matthews, during his argument, said:

"No one has a greater interest in this case than the prisoner, who has lost his home and dear one. They set up a motive and an opportunity. The only evidence that can be considered in this State in justice to my client is the $20,000 life insurance policy.

"My client must be considered as an honorable man. Anything else is an injustice to him. I cannot con-

Find Body of Priest in Pond at North Easton

North Easton, Oct. 6.—The body of Rev. Stephen MacGill, curate of the Church of the Immaculate Conception of this town, was found today in what is known as Hoe Shop Pond which is used as a swimming pool by boys.

The body was discovered by a workman employed in the hoe shop that forms a part of the plant of the Ames Company. Father MacGill's clothes were found but a short distance away from the edge of the pond. Some of the garments were hanging from trees.

There were no marks of violence on the body. It is believed that the clergyman went in for a swim and was seized with a cramp when in the water. The pond is very deep in its centre.

Father MacGill was last seen alive shortly after 9 o'clock today. When he left his house he said he was going to take a walk to Faraway Pond.

He was a native of Fall River and came here a year ago.

Maine Soldier Is Mysteriously Slain on Border

By International News Service.

Laredo, Tex., Oct. 6.—Deep mystery shrouds the killing last night of Corporal Leopold L. Lovell of Company K, Second Maine Infantry, by a provost guard. Lovell, whose home is at Farmington, Me., was shot through the back while walking away eating peanuts.

Seven thousand troops passed in review before General Funston here today.

12 START IN BROCKTON RACE

Thirteenth Contestant, 45 Minutes Late in Arriving at B. A. A., Goes in Pursuit; Kennedy Leads

Twelve contestants for the Brockton Fair Marathon prize toed the mark at noon today in front of the Boston Athletic Association building, Exeter street, and at the crack of Starter George D. Brown's pistol began their twenty-five-mile run.

Delayed by a late train, the thirteenth runner, William E. Leiteritz of Williamsett, Mass., No. 14, arrived at the club building forty-five minutes after the others had been sent away, but, undaunted by the handicap, started in pursuit.

He was accompanied by his trainer and pacemaker, Martin Silver, an old Marathon runner, who was so excited in getting away that it was some minutes before he could mount his bicycle and catch his mate.

The first prize, a handsome bronze figure, was assured any runner who came under the 2 hour and 30 minute mark, old runners said. The race last year was run in 2h. 28m., but changes in the course this year would make that at least seven minutes longer.

Hundreds of athletic enthusiasts lined Exeter street in front of the club building long before the start, and favorites were cheered as they came to the mark. Traffic on the street and on side streets leading into Exeter near the club was suspended for a quarter of an hour because of the crowds.

Those who started were:

No. 2.—George Costavikis, Boston.
No. 3—Hans Schuster, Brooklyn.
No. 5—W. J. (Bill) Kennedy, Fort Chester, New York.
No. 7—George De Cicco, Boston.
No. 9—Willie Kyronen, Melrose, A. A. N. Y.
No. 15—Eddie Lyons, Revere.
No. 16—Thomas H. Lilley, Dorchester.
No. 17—Fred Couture, Lowell.
No. 18—H. W. Holden, Melrose.
No. 9—Sidney Hatch, Chicago.
No. 20—Roy Davis, Lowell.

At Mattapan, which was passed half an hour after the start, Kennedy was leading with several runners bunched, some distance to his rear.

BULGAR RETREAT IN MACEDONIA

London, Oct. 6 — The Bulgarian troops on the Struma River front in Greek Macedonia have begun a retreat, the French War Office announced today in a report on Balkan operations. Violent attacks by the British, who are facing the Bulgars on the Struma front, dislodged King Ferdinand's forces from their strongly fortified positions.

The Paris statement on Balkan operations follows:

"On the Struma the enemy retreated before the British forces.

"In the Czernver River region there were lively combats.

"On the whole front Mesdsidli-Kenal-Gradenica, near the Monastir railway, our aviators displayed great activity against the enemy railroads."

Athens dispatches report the capture of the Macedonian town of Nevolten by the British, with three Bulgarian officers and 339 men.

The British War Office simultaneously announces that on the Somme front the English forces have advanced their lines still further to the northeast of Eaucourt L'Abbaye.

North of the Somme River French and German guns engaged in heavy exchanges of fire throughout the night. There were heavy bombardments in the sector of Cote du Poivre in the Meuse valley, north of Verdun.

Sofia reports that "not a single Rumanian soldier remains on the Bulgarian side of the Danube."

Petrograd reports that powerful counter attacks are being delivered by Austro-German and Turkish troops against Russian positions at numerous places. These attacks, the Russian War Office announced today, have led to stubbornly contested battles. The Russians have captured 539 prisoners in Galacia and the Russo-Rumanian army in Dobrudja has captured 300.

Breaks May Decide Series, Says Carrigan

This is the first "inside" story on the World's Series by Manager William F. (Bill) Carrigan of the Champion Red Sox. In this article the great Boston leader tells why he expects his team to make new baseball history in its battles against the Dodgers. Carrigan will "cover" the World's Series games for the daily and Sunday AMERICAN. No baseball enthusiast can afford to miss his "inside" stories of the title clashes.

By WILLIAM F. (BILL) CARRIGAN.

(Manager of the World's Champion Red Sox.)

Boston's representatives are eager for the first World's Series game which will be played with Brooklyn Saturday at Braves' Field. They are confident in their ability to repeat their triumph of 1915 when they won four out of five contests from the Phillies. Every player on my team is determined to fight for every advantage when opposing the Dodgers until the highest honors in baseball are either won or lost.

Will the Red Sox beat the Dodgers? Almost everybody I meet asks me this question. It is a difficult matter to pick the winner of a World's Series. There are some people who attempt to do so. When they succeed in naming a winner it is often the result of a lucky guess.

I believe the Red Sox are the most consistent ball club in the country today. This fact alone, however, does not assure us of defeating Brooklyn in the championship contests.

In a short series of seven games the "breaks" of baseball play an important part in deciding the ultimate result. If the Red Sox get the "breaks" in their battles against Brooklyn they will retain their title as baseball champions of the world. But if the Dodgers are fortunate and get the "breaks," they will win the big series.

The Red Sox, however, are not going to worry about the "breaks" of the game. They will play the best game they are capable of each day, and if good baseball, daring and grit count for anything those persons who witness the coming con-

LEONARD OR RUTH IN FIRST GAME

Bill Carrigan's Red Sox will battle the Dodgers in the World's Series without the services of Jack Barry, Del Gainer and George Foster, three players who were so prominent in defeating the Phillies in championship battles last Fall.

Barry is suffering from a fractured bone in his right hand. He is now able to do light work, but he is not in condition to take part in a title series. Carrigan admits that Barry is in poor condition and he declares that he will not use him against the Dodgers unless in the case of an emergency.

JANVRIN AT SECOND.

With Barry out of the Red Sox lineup, Janvrin will play second base. He covered the keystone station during the Red Sox recent drive in the West when they clinched the American League pennant by their wonderful playing.

George Foster, who defeated the Phillies in two of the World's Series tussles last Fall, is not in condition to pitch against the Dodgers. He has been suffering from a lame arm for several months and cannot be expected to enter the title series, where a pitcher must be at his best if he is to win.

Foster has not started a ball game since the Red Sox were in St. Louis on their last Western trip. He pitched five innings against the Browns when he weakened and was forced to give way to a relief pitcher.

Foster has suffered from intense pains in his pitching arm. During the latter part of August he was unable to lift his arm in the air without feeling sharp pains in his shoulder.

"Goose Egg" George stated today that he would like to perform in one of the games against the Dodgers.

Fair and Cooler, Prediction for Opening Game

The weather man is a Real Fan.

Fair, but somewhat cooler, is his prediction for tomorrow.

Sunshine, too, he says.

So ticket holders for the opening clash on Braves Field are in merry mood today.

The weather man gets reports of a disturbance of some energy central over the South Atlantic coast this morning, which was causing rain in that section, and was accompanied by moderate to strong northeast wind. It is the weather man's opinion, however, that Boston and Brooklyn fandom will not be affected by that storm.

In all other parts of the country this morning the weather was fair and clear, with seasonable temperature in all sections. From present appearances the temperature here tomorrow afternoon should be between sixty-five and seventy, ideal Fall weather.

Carrigan, however, says he will not use Foster unless he is at his best. As Foster was batted hard when he opposed the Athletics early in the week, it does not appear that he has regained the effectiveness which characterized his work during the 1915 season and in the World's Series battles against the Phillies, when he shared the honors with Duffy Lewis and Harry Hooper.

Dick Hoblitzel is almost sure to play first base for the Red Sox during the entire series. He has been dividing the work there with Del Gainer. The latter has played first base when the Red Sox have been opposed by southpaws, as he is a right-handed batter, while Hobby hits from the other side of the plate.

SECOND DEFENCE LINE.

Gainer has not been batting well of late. Hoblitzel will be started against left-hand as well as right-hand pitchers. If he does well, he will play the entire series.

Barry, Gainer and Foster will be held in reserve. They will compose the Red Sox secondary defence and will not be put on the firing line unless the present regulars fail to do what is expected of them.

Ruth against the "Rube" for the opening World's Series game. That was the general feeling around town today.

"Dutch" Leonard, another southpaw in Carrigan's pitching string, was mentioned as a pitching probability in case Carrigan decides to save Ruth for the second game.

LOOKS LIKE RUBE.

The same fans who figured Ruth to pitch for Boston tomorrow believed that Marquard would pitch for Brooklyn. Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Dodgers has been quoted in dispatches from Manhattan as saying that Marquard was a likely possibility for the first game.

St it looked today, no statement coming to the contrary, like a southpaw duel for tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers are on their way. They have started for Boston and—and as they trust—for the big end of that dear old series money.

STILL TALK OF SCANDAL.

The Brooklyn outfit—players, subs, officials, mascot, etc., etc.—met at Ebbets Field, then paraded in automobiles about the home city. They were headed by a band and the "Brooklyn Boosters," the new organization which is to root Brooklyn to victory if yowls can do it.

The parade wound up at Borough Hall in Brooklyn. Then the players, "boosters" and other fans entrained for the Grand Central Station, where they boarded a special train leaving for Boston at 1 o'clock.

The National Baseball Commission—comprising Ban Johnson, John K. Tener and Garry Herrmann—which has been meeting at the Waldorf in New York, was already on its way here before the Dodger camp started. The commission puts up at the Copley-Plaza Hotel.

Whether the commission will really take up the Giants-Dodgers baseball scandal and the things that Captain McGraw said about some of his players still agitates fans.

But the scandal, as a topic for fans, is being crowded to the wall by another and even more engrossing subject—ticket speculators.

Professional speculators from New York and Philadelphia are doing a land office business in World's Series tickets along the downtown streets.

Hundreds of the precious bits of pastebard have found their way into their hands, despite the fact that numerous steady patrons of the Red Sox were complaining today that they applied for tickets weeks before and had found their requests ignored.

Five dollars is being asked and received for tickets admitting to the $2 section. The scalpers — natty, flashily dressed young men—scoff at the prospect of arrest and fine, although such a fate has already befallen Harry Epstein, of Brooklyn, arrested near the ball park for "scalping."

It is in the cheaper class of seats that the speculators are doing practically all their business.

"We know we can get rid of the $2 seats at a handsome profit," said a "scalper" of a party of three buttonholing pedestrians near the Adams house. "And we've got lots to sell."

Opposite the Adams House and Clark's Hotel, the sidewalk was lined with "scalpers," who buttonholed every passerby who, in their experienced eyes appeared to be in the market for tickets.

"D'you want to buy or sell?" was their first question.

DO NOT FEAR ARREST.

Much higher prices than the $5 paid for $2 seats will be demanded tomorrow by speculators, they declared, as the rush of out-of-town purchasers of tickets starts, and the precious pasteboards become scarcer.

Few box or higher-priced seats have as yet found their way into the hands of the scalpers, but apparently they had an unlimited supply of the cheaper seats, despite efforts of the Red Sox management to invent a system which would enable all genuine fans to get seats and practically stop "scalping."

"We should worry," said the "scalpers," in regard to the arrest of one of the speculators. "That's a chance we have to take, and what's a fifteen-dollar fine, when we can make that on the sale of a pair of tickets for two games.

Mingling with the "scalpers" were dozens of bookmakers taking bets on the series and their business became brisk with the arrival of the advance guard of Brooklyn supporters. Odds continued 10 to 7 in Boston's favor, with bookmakers predicting a drop to 10 to 6 by the time the umpire's roar of "Play Ball" is heard in the crowded Braves Field Saturday.

Lobbies of the leading hotels were thronged today with baseball club owners, managers and players, who rubbed shoulders with leaders in the most exclusive society circles, in politics, in the business world and in public life, who have flocked to Boston actuated by the same motive as the thousands of lesser-known fans. The hotel lobbies have now taken on some of the turmoil and hustle that always precedes the blue ribbon event of the year in baseball.

The Brooklyn team, headed by President Ebbets and their rotund manager, Wilbert Robinson, will arrive at the Hotel Brunswick late today. President Ebbets will room right in the midst of his players to hearten them in their attempt to stave off the rush of the Red Sox.

The leading hotels already are turning would-be guests away by the hundred. Every room in the best-known hotels have been engaged and the horde of fans that arrive tonight and tomorrow will have a frantic search to find accommodations.

TAD PICKS DODGERS TO DEFEAT SOX

By TAD.

New York, Oct. 6.—Just spoke to "Demon" Runyon, president emeritus of the Hard Boiled Eggs.

He says that he likes Brooklyn to win the series, and is picking them on brute strength alone.

That's no kid, either. They do resemble Jess Willard a lot when you stop to think of footwork, high and fancy diving, blocking and the like.

Willard is such an awful chunk of beef that the other poor mitt-pushers have little chance with him.

Same way with Brooklyn. The boys certainly are a well-fed bunch. Fast as a coal truck on the paths, something like a sleepy guy when they think, but Oh, lady. . . How they can pickle the old pill when they get going.

I like the Dodgers myself.

Their pitchers are just as good as Boston's. The Beaneaters may have a shade, but in the World's Series you know many stars are made over night.

Coombs and Marquard certainly look trained to the minute, and if each of them does not win a game there's going to be a bunch of disappointed dopesters.

BIG MOGULS OF BASEBALL ARRIVE

By JOHN W. MORAN, JR.

Ban B. Johnson, Jack Kay Tener and Herr Garry Herrmann, big moguls of baseball, came to Boston today. For the next three days they will hold sessions at the Copley-Plaza. Just what they may decide to do is more or less problematical. First, they may decide to probe the scandal which Johnny McGraw stirred up and then again they may decide to look into tickets.

It's a copper-riveted cinch they won't bother to ascertain just why they get 1,500 of the choicest seats at both parks.

It's probable that all the commission does today is pay a few checks, casually review the McGraw charges, sell some of their tickets, instruct the umpires, and otherwise let folks know they are on hand. Practically all arrangements for the big clash have long since been completed. But little remains for Ban, Jack and Garry to do save greet their friends at the Copley-Plaza.

HOLD SECRET PRACTICE.

Included in the crowds that came to town today are baseball men, owners, managers, players and fans from all sections of the country. Likewise have the members of the visiting press started their march on Boston.

Manager Bill Carrigan and his Red Sox held secret practice today at Braves Field. Signals were gone over and the last word of Manager Bill given the players.

Yesterday Bill had the most of his regulars out to Braves Field, the only absentees being Janvrin, Walker and Shorten. The others went through hitting and fielding practice. Janvrin, Walker and Shorten were of the party that went up to Worcester for the exhibition game.

Lewis and Hooper were the only outfielders on hand and the work this pair did was plenty. Both were in the outer works accustoming themselves to the light effects, and it can safely be said that they are in form for the big clash. Sam Jones and Babe Ruth devoted some minutes in pitching to the different hitters. The practice was a long and profitable one.

LONG RUNS FOR DUFFY.

And when all had been concluded, George Edward Lewis, more commonly known as Duffy, took it unto himself to take a long run around the limits of the park. Just what the California Kid did all of that for we don't know. We do know that he did it. All hands were then excused with the strict injunction to take perfect care of themselves during the hours between now and the opening of the big clash.

Dodgers Off On Boston Invasion

By ARTHUR STREWE,

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

New York, Oct. 6.—With all the pomp and grandeur that made the old-time minstrels favorites as they marched through village streets, the Dodgers, National League champions, left today for Boston, where tomorrow they will tackle the Red Sox in the first game for the world's title.

Assembling early at Ebbets Field, the players, club officials, handlers, etc., headed by a brass band, marched around the field while hundreds of their admirers cheered and wished them well. Then the men who will represent the National League in the big series, climbed into touring cars and with the band still preceding them rode through the streets of Brooklyn until they left their autos, embarked on the subway for the Grand Central Depot, where they entrained for Boston.

The players were full of confidence. They feel that, having survived the terrific strain in their league to land the coveted flag, that they will come through victorious in the fight for the premier baseball honors.

No indication was given by Manager Robinson who he would send to the mound in the opener tomorrow. It is believed, however, that it will be Rube Marquard, the southpaw.

CARRIGAN SAYS SOX WILL WIN

Boston has been represented by many great baseball teams, but there never was a more courageous band of athletes than those who are members of the present Red Sox outfit. The last Western trip of the club proved this statement.

During my career in baseball I have seen ball clubs do some great things, but I never saw a team rally the way the Red Sox did when they invaded the West. Pushed back to their third line of defences and finally forced from first to third place in the league standing, the boys came back and trounced the White Sox and Tygers, regained their position at the head of the pennant fight and then continued winning ball games until they had the pennant clinched.

FIGHTING SPIRIT WINS.

It is this fighting spirit which I will depend so much upon to win ball games in the World's Series. The Red Sox never admit defeat until a game is over. They will battle against almost overwhelming odds and ultimately smash their way to a rousing victory.

When Jack Barry was forced to quit the lineup on account of an injury, many persons versed in baseball declared we were out of the flag race. But with Janvrin playing at second base, the Red Sox machine finally got going right again and we won ball games despite the absence of Barry from the keystone station.

Barry has been one of our mainstays in winning ball games, but in my opinion he will not be able to play in the World's Series. His injured hand is still in poor shape although he played a nine inning practice game at Braves Field Wednesday.

There is a chance, of course, that Barry's injured hand may improve greatly within the next few days, in which case he may get into some of the World's Series tussles. But unless such an event occurs, Janvrin will play second base for us during the championship clashes. Barry will only be used in case of an emergency.

JANVRIN PLAYING STAR GAME.

In the event that Janvrin plays second base, I am sure that he will give a grand account of himself. I have always considered him a remarkably good ball player, but he never played as well as he has this year. His work around the keystone station on the last Western trip was marvellous. He made all kinds of almost impossible plays in the field, while he showed to advantage at the bat.

Janvrin will have plenty of experienced players to steady him with Gardner and Hoblitzell on the job. Scott will work beside him, and there is not a better shortstop in the American League today than this youngster. His brilliant fielding has been an important factor in our success this year.

I have been asked on numerous occasions what pitchers I intend to use in the World's Series. Foster has not been going very well of late and consequently I will probably not use him in any of the championship games. I will also not take any chances with any of my inexperienced hurlers.

HAS FOUR CLASSY PITCHERS.

Ruth, Shore, Mays and Leonard will care for the Red Sox end of the pitching in the World's Series. Each of these men is a high class performer and they are sure to cause the Brooklyn batters a great deal of trouble. I have not yet decided in what order I will use them. It will all depend upon conditions tomorrow and the following days of the series.

I believe the Red Sox pitchers will do as well this year as they did in 1915. Our "big four" are as good as they come. And if Foster should return to form next week we would have a staff of hurlers which would be almost unbeatable. As it is, we have not anything to worry about in the way of pitchers.

I have been told that Brooklyn has some pretty classy pitchers, but they will have to do some great hurling to beat my staff.

I am unable to give any personal observations about the Brooklyn team as I have not seen it play since it was in the South this Spring. I was amused to read where some of the New York sporting writers had me scouting at the Brooklyn-Giants game Wednesday. When I was supposed to be in Brooklyn I was directing the Red Sox practice at Braves Field.

It would have been a waste of time for me to have watched the Dodgers play after they had won the championship. They would not have attempted any of their winning plays, while their regulars who got into the lineup would have played under "wraps." To do any scouting which is worth while one must see a ball club play when there is something at stake and it is doing everything possible to put over a victory.

As we do not know a great deal about the style of play followed by the Brooklyn club we will try all the harder to win. There is a certain joy in going against something new and overpowering it.

We will adopt the same tactics we have followed all season. I intend to use Walker in centre field when we are opposed by left handed pitchers, while Shorten will cover the centre garden when right handed hurlers are working for the opposing team.

BRAVES' SUN FIELD POOR.

Our home games will be played at Braves Field and we will have many difficulties to overcome while there. There is a poor sun field at the home of Stallings' band. The outfielders have much to contend with. I have had my outfielders practicing catching flies so that they may become accustomed to the peculiar shadows and glaring sun at the Braves' park.

But as Brooklyn will experience the same difficulties, it is all even. We are not seeking any advantages. We are eager to start on even terms with our rivals and we will do our best to prove to the loyal baseball "fans" of New England that we are worthy of the great confidence which they have in us.

The "fans" have supported us in princely style all season. Every member of the Red Sox outfit would like to reward them by winning another baseball championship for Boston.

PLAGUE SPREADS IN STATE; 38 NEW CASES

An increase in the number of new infantile paralysis cases for the whole State and a slight decrease in the number in Boston was shown in the State Board of Health report today.

This listed thirty-eight new cases in the State, twelve of which are in Boston, in the twenty-four hours ending at 9 a. m. Boston had thirteen new cases in yesterday's report.

One of the worst cases of infantile paralysis yet discovered in Lynn was found by Dr. Loring Grimes of the Swampscott Board of Health today when he was called to Stetson avenue to vaccinate a child. In an adjoining room he found Norman Gagnon, thirteen months old, suffering from parlysis. The child had been sick for the past two weeks, although no report of the nature of its illness had been made to the Board of Health.

The local health officials announced that if another case was found in the city the schools would be closed. All schoolrooms were ordered fumigated today.

The following is the list issued by the State Board:

Dedham—Baby Colbirth, Curve street.

Stoneham—Netta Maher, Spring lane.

Newton—One case.

Oxford—Gertrude Kelley, Buffum Village.

Cambridge—Four cases.

Halifax—Charles Huback, South Hanson, R. F. D.

Milton—Celia Zariboni, Brush Hill road; George Francis, Edgehill road.

Everett—George E. Nutthall, Marie avenue.

Malden—Isadore Solomon, Harvard street.

West Newbury—Harold Rowell, sixteen; Harold Biladeau, four. (Former to Haverhill Hospital).

WALTHAM — Florence Lloyd of Noonan street; Ruth McKinna of Exchange street; John McDonald of Exchange street.

CHICOPEE—Alfred Boucher of Prospect street.

HOLYOKE—Rita Mittey of Dwight street; George Walker of Bridge street.

SPRINGFIELD—Raymond Mazetti, South street court.

PITTSFIELD—Raymond Mansir of Edwin street; Edward Chase of Thompson place; Catherine Ross of Peck's road.

BOSTON—James Dowling of Chelsea street, East Boston; Gerald Sullivan, of Third street, South Boston; Henry Hildred of Bunker Hill street; Isaac Shore of Poplar street; Vernard Van Ham of Roseland street; Frank Freeman of Iola street; Joseph Dolan of East Second street, South Boston; Paul Charbonnie of Charles street place; Celia Rubinstein of Barton street; Mary Isgor of Oneida street; Dorothy Freeman of Iola street; Alvin Killinger of Childs street.

Thus far in October there have been 162 new cases in the State, and for the year up to October 1 there have been 1,017 cases. For the whole year of 1909, in which the last serious epidemic appeared, there were but 922 cases.

New Discovery May Cure Baby Plague

New York, Oct. 6.—Hope of a cure for infantile paralysis is held out. A discovery that is said to be of great importance in the treatment and prevention of polyomyelitis or infantile paralysis was announced at the New York Academy of Medicine by Dr. E. C. Rosenow, of the Mayo Foundation of Rochester, Minn. As a result of several months' experimental work, both in Rochester and in the infantile paralysis branch of the New York hospital, Dr. Rosenow is able to isolate a peculiar form of germ by the use of which he has been able to produce in laboratory animals a form of paralysis similar to that produced in human beings.

Dr. Rosenow said he had also been able to isolate the germ of the spinal chord, and the brain of persons who had died of the disease in eleven cases where the tonsils were removed, and in four, where adenoids were cut out, it was found they showed small abscesses, and in the affected parts he found the streptococcus. He noted that in the cases where the tonsils and adenoids had been removed the patients made rapid progress toward recovery.

CHILD WHO DEFIED JUDGE NOW HAPPY WITH MOTHER

Mrs. Frederick Mayor and her children, Ileen, aged seven, and Alfred, nine, who are united now after divorce was granted to Mrs. Mayor and she had won the custody of her little son and daughter.

Seven-year-old Ilene Mayor, the little girl who made things lively at the courthouse when she refused to go to her mother, Mrs. Frederick Mayor of No. 34 Eliot street, when Judge Lawton so declared, is today happy surrounded with her pets and playthings.

Ilene has entered the Abraham Lincoln School.

The Mayors have figured in cohrt during the past year owing to domestic troubles, with the result a divorce was granted Mrs. Mayor.

FIGHT FOR CHILD.

The fight for the child was then commenced. Finally Judge Lawton ordered the child turned over to the mother. For some unknown reason Ilene didn't want to go. She manifested it in such a manner that she was brought before the judge the second time, given a reprimand, and once more told that she must stay with her mother.

Late yesterday an AMERICAN reporter found her with her mother at their Eliot street home. Both were happy. Ilene was surrounded by playmates, occupants of the same house.

ALL THREE ARE HAPPY.

Ilene and her nine-year-old brother, Alfred, are a very active pair and the house rang with their laughter last night. Ilene said:

> Of course I'm glad to be with mother and brother. I don't know what ailed me in court. I was rather naughty, but that judge scared me. I am happy and shall continue in school as mother wants me to.

Ilene displayed with great pride a pair of "bunnies" who jumped at her as she fed them lettuce. She taught them many tricks.

Mrs. Mayor said:

"It seems good to have Ilene with me again. I've been so lonesome. If I had not been able to keep busy all the time I don't think I could have stood it at all. I do hope that this court business is all over with. Ilene, Alfred and I are happy together now and I hope it will continue forever."

HARVARD MAGAZINE BOARD INCREASED

Three new members were taken on the board of the Harvard Illustrated Magazine. Two are Boston boys, Paul B. Elliot of Dorchester and Arthur N. Nelson of Jamaica Plain, both sophomores. William R. Swart, likewise a sophomore, was elected to the photographic staff with Nelson. Elliott is a business manager.

Strikers Launch a "Tank" Attack in New York

New York, Oct. 6.—The recent success of the British in their battles in France was taken as a lesson today by the car strikers, who launched a "tank" attack against a surface car in One Hundred and Forty-fifth street.

A big auto truck, manned by a body of strikers and sympathizers, was used as the "tank." The truck was driven alongside the car and a volley of stones was sent crashing through the car windows.

The attack, although creating considerable excitement, did not result in serious injury to anyone.

Danger of the strike spreading to the tubes under the Hudson River developed today. President G. H. Sines of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen presented a demand to the Hudson & Manhattan Railway Company for the reinstatement of forty-one dispatchers on the tube lines who have been discharged during the past few days.

It is charged by the brotherhood that the men were not released for sufficient cause.

New Victim of Woman Swindler

Lynn's "Mysterious Mrs. Hall of Chester street," has again shown disdain for the police of this city and snapped her fingers in their face.

For four months this mysterious woman, whom her victims afterwards always describe as a beautiful young woman of fine figure, striking black eyes, black hair and a fluent talker, has flim-flammed the merchants and housekeepers of Lynn and has collected hundreds of dollars in cash and goods.

Her latest victim is Miss Catherine Carroll, Lynn's fashionable milliner. "Mrs. Hall," after examining several expensive hats yesterday chose one at $40 which she asked to exhibit "to a friend around the corner." She took the hat with her and has not returned. The case was reported to the police today—with the usual description of "Mrs. Hall."

The number she gives of the house on Chester street is ficticious, the police say.

Other victims of "Mrs. Hall" have been subscribers to Red Cross Relief funds, and merchants who have cashed checks for her and lent her money.

FOOD PRODUCTS ARE SOARING IN 'FRISCO

San Francisco, Oct. 6.—Sugar was selling at $7.20 a hundred pounds wholesale and $7.70 retail here, after making a second advance in price within a week.

An increase of 20 cents a barrel for California flour at wholesale to $7.60 and a boost to 42½ cents a dozen wholesale for first quality eggs, also added to the increased cost of living.

RETAIL TRADE BOARD ELECTS 1917 OFFICERS

The Retail Trade Board of the Boston Chamber of Commerce has elected the following 1917 governing board: F. Alexander Chandler, Chandler & Farquhar Company; Jerome A. Crane, Liggett Company; A. Lincoln Filene, William Filene's Sons Company; Josiah S. Hathaway, The White Company; Harold F. McNeil, Thayer, McNeil Company; George W. Mitton, Jordan Marsh Company; Julius C. Morse, Leopold Morse Company; William L. Shearer, Paine Furniture Company, and John Shepard, Jr., Shepard, Norwell Company.

ESSAD PASHA MUST DIE FOR TREASON

London, Oct. 6.—A report on the death sentence passed by a court-martial in Constantinople on Essad Pasha, former provisional President of Albania, has been received in Amsterdam. The commanding general at Constantinople says in the report that Essad Pasha was proved at his trial to have conspired with bands against the Turkish empire and to have declared war on Turkey. The sentence of death was confirmed by the Sultan.

PLOT CHARGED IN NEW YORK MILK CRISIS

By International News Service.

New York, Oct. 6.—Conspiracy charges in the milk controversy are the basis of an inquiry begun here today by the Attorney General's Department, through Deputy Attorney General M. E. Lewis. Every phase of the situation will be investigated.

The shortage of milk was more serious today than at any time since the milk strike began. Less than 20 per cent. of the normal supply was delivered. Special police guards were detailed to the Harlem milk stations to prevent a recurrence of yesterday's disturbance.

Boston Contractors and Producers Claim Victory

The milk situation in Boston today remains as it has been ever since the predicted famine failed to arrive. According to the milk contractors, the danger of a famine has passed and they are getting as much milk as they have always received.

Secretary Pattee of the New England Milk Producers' Association, however, still holds firm to his statements that there is in sight a shortage in the milk supply of this city. His claim is that milk coming into Boston is coming only from a territory located within a radius of 150 miles of the city, and that outside of that radius, the producers are holding off for their price.

"I think at 10 cents a quart the public is getting milk cheap," said Pattee. "The farmers are not getting this cent advance, however. Those who have benefited by the advance which the contractors have been forced to make in order to get any milk at all are getting only three-eighths of a cent advance over the price of last Winter.

"The milk price paid to the farmers last Summer was nine cents a can cheaper than last Winter. The contractors have had to pay 12 cents more a can for this Winter's milk. While they pay the farmers two prices, they charge the consumers but one price. Ice doesn't make the difference and it doesn't cost 9 cents to ice an eight and a half quart can of milk.

"Of this extra cent the farmers, under the contractors' plan, were to get three-eighths of a cent, the railroads one-eighth of a cent and the contractors four-eighths of a cent. Their increased price is approximately [illegible] cents for an 8½-quart can. We ask 57 cents increase."

TO BEGIN 8-HOUR STUDY IN CHICAGO

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 6.—The government's new eight-hour commission when the members meet here for formal organization and to begin their work will first turn to Chicago and the Middle West in their investigation of railway pay and hours of labor.

It is considered that the big railroads with terminals in Chicago more nearly typify conditions throughout the country than do the railroads branching out from any other city. The commissioners will begin their work with a framework on which to base their finding awaiting them. By the appointment of Commissioner Clark of the Interstate Commerce Commission as a member of the eight-hour day commission all the data obtained through the commission's investigation into the physical valuations of railroads will be available for use by the eight-hour day body.

Formal organization of the commission will be made shortly. Commissioner Clark is already in Washington ready to begin the work. Major-General Goethals, who is to be chairman, and George F. Rublee of the Federal Trade Commission, will be ready in a few days.

GERMANS REPULSE RUSSIAN ATTACKS

By International News Service.

Berlin, Oct. 6.—The capture of six Russian officers and 627 men west of the Volhynia fortress of Lutzk and the repulse of Russian attacks on both sides of the Zlota-Lipa were announced b ythe German War Office today. In the latter area about 50 miles southeast of Lemberg, the Russians penetrated the Germa nlines at isolated points, it is stated, but were driven back in counter attacks, netting the Teutons 510 prisoners. "We are absolute masters of the positions," says the official report.

CHICAGO SHIVERS AFTER RECORD HEAT

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Chicagoans today shivered in a drop of the temperature over night of thirty degrees. Yesterday, the hottest October on record here, the thermometer climbed to 87 degrees. At seven o'clock this morning the official temperature was 57 degrees.

FEAR ROXBURY GIRL IN HANDS OF 'SLAVERS'

Helen Gertrude Fullerton, a comely Roxbury girl, only thirteen years old, but well grown, has disappeared under circumstances which fit in with one of the favorite methods of white slavers in trapping unsuspecting victims.

The girl packed most of her things and went away from home at No. 11 Farnell street while her mother was absent on an errand. She left the following note:

> Dear Mamma:
>
> I have gone to Canada with a rich woman. I am going to take care of two children. HELEN.

The note, in the eyes of the horrified parents, has all the earmarks of a white slaver's lure. One of the favorite methods of women operators in the nefarious system is to lure girls away from home under pretence of employing them, if they are eighteen years old or over, as companions to elderly women, or, if they are younger, to take care of children.

MOTHER TELLS STORY.

The story of Helen's disappearance was brought to the AMERICAN today by her distracted parents. The father, who is a laborer, left his work in order to accompany his wife to the AMERICAN and help her tell the story.

Both parents fear that Helen has been deceived into leaving home by an evil person. The mention in the farewell note of her going across the boundary into Canada looks particularly unfavorable to them.

Mrs. Fullerton said:

"Helen has been gone nearly a month. It was on Sunday, September 10, that she left. We had noticed nothing about her to make us suspect anything of the kind.

"She is in the Everett grammar school on Northampton street, or was getting ready to go back there when school opened. She seemed as happy as usual.

HELEN DISAPPEARS.

"She is a big girl for her age. She is a pronounced brunette, with dark hair and heavy, dark eyebrows. Of late she had seemed to dress older than before. She wanted her skirts a little longer. She even tried to put her hair up sometimes. But on the day she left home, I remember, she was wearing it in a braid, like other girls of her age.

"On the Sunday she left home I had gone out on an errand. My husband was out. Helen was home with her younger brother, George. When I returned Helen was gone. George said she had 'dressed up and gone away.'

"I wondered at that, but I was not alarmed until I found in her room the note saying she had gone to Canada with a rich woman, to take care of two children.

"I had read of these things that people do to catch young girls and trick them into leaving home, and the more I looked at the note the more frightened I was.

"When my husband came home I told him, and then we reported the case to the police. They have found no trace of Helen.

"Helen is five feet and four inches tall and weighs 118 pounds. She wore away her best clothes and took others with her."

HELEN GERTRUDE FULLERTON, Roxbury girl of thirteen years, whose parents fear she has fallen into the hands of "White Slavers."

Many Propose to Care for Mother

By International News Service.

New York, Oct. 6.—Pretty Clara Bischoff, the girl who advertised for a husband in order that she might provide a home for her aged mother, today was fairly deluged with offers of marriage.

By letter and in person, business men, farmers, mechanics and professional men laid their hearts at the young woman's feet. The postman has left more letters at the little home at No. 118 Kent avenue in Greenpoint in the past two days than he previously left in a year.

Practically every one contained an offer of marriage.

Miss Bischoff is sticking to her word that she intended to investigate each applicant for her hand carefully. She has stated that the man she wed must earn at least $30 a week. Several of the applicants so far, it was today said, come within this class.

NEW YORK ARTIST WEDS DANVERS GIRL

Portsmouth, N. H., Oct. 6.—Carl Sigurd Schou, an artist of New York, who has been passing the Summer at Ogunquit, Me., where he is one of the leaders in the Summer colony, was married in this city today to Miss Bertha Gladys Dickey, a graduate nurse and the daughter of William G. Dickey of Danvers, Mass. The ceremony was performed by City Clerk Drew.

KILL ONE, SHOOT 2 IN RESTAURANT

New York, Oct. 6.—One man was killed and two wounded, one fatally, when two Italians, bent on revenge, invaded a restaurant in Broome street, near the Bowery today, and fired many revolver shots. The dead man was Giuseppe Verazanno, saloonkeeper. Edward Belli, wounded by three shots is reported dying. The invaders fled.

HOLD 2 STRIKERS FOR PLOT TO KILL SHONTS

By International News Service.

New York, Oct. 6.—Information of an alleged plot to kill Theodore P. Shonts and Frank Hedley, president and superintendent of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the New York Railways Company led to the arrest today of Oscar Wallace and John J. Sheehan, two elevated railway strikers.

The police charged the men with conspiracy to kill the traction officials, but when they were arraigned in Harlem court this charge was not formally entered.

The police filed charges of disorderly conduct. Wallace and Sheehan, who were arrested during an attack against an elevated train, were questioned for many hours at police headquarters but stoutly denied that they intended to harm the heads of the traction companies.

MANY BEQUESTS BY SOMERVILLE WOMAN

The will of Margaret A. Sampson of Somerville, who died September 9, was filed today. Her estate is valued at [illegible] and her bequests include [illegible] to her sister, Emily A., and smaller sums to other relatives in Somerville; the Boston division of the Animal Rescue League receives $2,000 and the same amount is given to Red Acres Farm, Stow; North End Mission, Boston; the Home for Little Wanderers, Boston, and the Massachusetts General Hospital; $500 to the relief fund of the Sons of Cincinnati and many other bequests.

The remainder of the estate, upon which no valuation is put, is left to Miss Katherine Gayle of Somerville.

THREE THROWN OUT IN AUTO COLLISION

An automobile, owned by Thomas Stout of No. 15 Peterboro street, while on Beacon street today was struck by a machine owned by W. B. Howard & Sons.

THE FULL FLAVOR of toasted corn was but partly developed in old-style corn flakes. To fully develop this flavor in a new flake was the task of the makers of NEW POST TOASTIES.

The first discovery was that the old-style corn flakes, tissue-like in their thinness, were hopeless for the purpose. A more substantial flake was necessary. And so, in the new product, you get real substance: not a spoonful of mush.

The next step was to revolutionize the toasting process by the use of wonderful rotary ovens revolving in quick, intense heat.

In consequence, the general public, quick to recognize improvement—appreciative of increased quality and better flavor, at once put NEW POST TOASTIES in the first rank.

The grocer can tell you that his trade is increasing tremendously. Your first package will show why.

CLAIM WILSON BETRAYED IRELAND

New York, Oct. 6.—Irish-American circles today are discussing the probable effect on the New York vote of a meeting which, in the words of John B. Moore, secretary of the Friends of Irish Freedom, was held "to protest against the commercial blacklist of Sir Edward Grey and the political blacklist of Woodrow Wilson."

The five thousand persons present cheered as Mr. Moore in these words explained why they had been called upon to assemble in Terrace Garden. Hundreds of others, unable to obtain admittance, stood in the street and re-cheered the sentiments of every speaker.

A majority of them were members of the American Truth Society of which Jeremiah O'Leary is president. It was a cosmopolitan gathering.

There were descendants of sturdy American stock and of Irish and German parentage in the vast throng. But they were there for a single purpose, to wage a campaign for the defeat of President Wilson for re-election and to prevent the election of all candidates of pseudo-American tendencies.

MOORE ACCUSES WILSON.

Mr. Moore, in his address, first went back to the days of sectionalism before the Civil War. He said: "If any of Mr. Wilson's relatives were fighting in '61, they were fighting to tear the stars out of the flag. Three of Jeremiah O'Leary's laid down their lives that the Union might live.

"Now, when in 1916, Mr. Wilson has tried to sell this nation to England, thank God another O'Leary has risen to oppose him. Every American knows down in his heart that Woodrow Wilson is the best President England ever had. If King George had searched the United States or even England he could not have found such a man—an instrument never to stop doing his business. He could not have made a better choice than that political accident which made Mr. Wilson President.

"Today the United States is just as much at war against the central powers as if war had been actually declared. Mr. Wilson has done everything to help their enemies. When I say enemies I do not mean Germany, who is coming out of this war a glorious conqueror. I don't mean Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria. I don't mean merely the powers of the central alliance. I mean Ireland.

MUNITION PLAN BETRAYED.

"Woodrow Wilson is partly Irish, and like a lot of those fellows he hates Ireland like the devil hates holy water. Last April a mob of secret service men broke into the German embassy and stole some papers. I do not say what those papers were, but I now charge the Wilson administration with basely betraying to the English government the plan of the Germans to furnish my Irish brothers with arms. If the Irish revolution failed it was defeated in Washington and not in Dublin."

Jeremiah O'Leary was given a rousing reception. He said in part: "We are a society with an ideal, and like everything that is American in our country we have been attacked by British propagandists. We are proud of the enemies we have made.

"We respect the office of the President of the United States and because we respect that office, we are anxious that it shall be occupied by a man who respects the dignity and honor and welfare of the American people.

"President Wilson's telegram to me was merely a revelation of the real man. He said to me, 'You and your kind.' My kind were fighting that the Union might live when his kind were trying to destroy it.

"It is because we take our country seriously that we are opposed to the munition traffic, that we are opposed to belligerent loans, that we are opposed to the sacrifice of our rights, of our lives, of our dignity to any foreign nation, be it Great Britain or be it Germany."

Servant Hoped to Wed Miss Armour

By International News Service.

Chicago, Oct. 6. — The dream of Charles Nelson, romantic man servant, who saw himself as the husband of Miss Lolita Armour, daughter of J. Ogden Armour, is dissolved today.

Nelson, attired in a new gray suit and a red neck-tie, after being refused admittance to the Armour home on five occasions, was arrested. He asserted that Miss Armour, who had seen him last Summer at Lake Geneva, where he was employed, had sent word she wished to meet him. He had never spoken to her, but he was confident she loved him, he said.

Then the police solved the affair. A maid had told Nelson Miss Armour was impressed by him, and he had swallowed the story whole.

BAY STATE MEN FIND LUXURY IN CAMP WITH GOOD WATER SUPPLY

By BERT FORD.

Las Cruces, N. M., Oct. 6.—This border settlement of 6,000 inhabitants gave the Massachusetts troops a hearty welcome when General Morton's division of 20,000 tramped through the town and made camp in the mesa beyond.

The townspeople were so glad to see the soldiers that they went to the expense of piping the camp grounds, providing a plentiful supply of water, which had been scarce the first five days out. Not that the men suffered intensely, but there was not enough at times to wash hands and faces with satisfaction, even among the officers. The much despised Rio Grande served good purpose as far as bathing facilities went.

The quartermaster's department shipped all the drinking and cooking water in watering carts and railroad tank cars from El Paso. This water was distributed in huge galvanized vats along the road opposite the camp sites of the respective organizations.

In passing them the infantrymen, hot, dusty and dirty, repeatedly tried to rush the guards, and scrimmages were frequent. While it may be an excellent test of endurance and will power, the limited water supply has been a bugaboo to the enlisted men in the fifteen-day hike.

The army instructors have been trying to induce the "doughboys" to use their allotment of water with discretion and military science; to make the march on the contents of one canteen, but the National Guard of Massachusetts and the other States have not yet learned self-denial. They drink when the impulse comes and, as a result, they have been obliged to march over miles of bad roads without a drop of water until the end of their day's journey.

Yesterday men of Company C of the Fifth rushed a water tank and several were knocked down with the butts of the rifles carried by the Massachusetts cavalry, who guarded the supply until assigned to the organizations. I have seen officers begging for a basin of water in the morning to cleanse faces and hands. I have hunted for a half basin full myself. But despite these disagreeable water features, the quartermaster and commissary corps have done very well considering the character of the country and the number of men and animals to be provided for.

There was joy among the Bay State forces when official announcement was made by General Morton that four days would be spent in Las Cruces and the division marched back to El Paso from there without proceeding to Fort Selden, as planned. Companies from the Fifth, Eighth and Ninth have done border patrol in this town and the townspeople looked forward with pleasure to their return.

There are many well-to-do ranch owners here and a girls' boarding school. Dances and other good times are being arranged especially for the soldiers from home.

General Morton said today that a battle problem will be worked out by his division tomorrow, and on Sunday the troops will rest. Manoeuvres will be held Monday and Tuesday, and on Wednesday the division will start back for El Paso. Five days are to be allowed for the return on October 15, making the hike and manoeuvres last exactly fifteen days. A rear guard problem was worked out for the first time on the hike. The hostile Red army was supposed to have encircled our right flank and menaced the supply train from behind. Colonel Wright led the advance; the main column followed close behind, and a mile astern, as the rear guard support, came all the Bay State forces massed.

The march from El Paso to Las Cruces and return will be ninety miles, exclusive of the manoeuvres on the environs of this town, and one day's problem fighting will take the troops toward Fort Selden. General Morton was pleased with the performance of the main column and wagon train. The infantry marched like veterans. Although a hot day, the stragglers were few in comparison to those from other States.

Fifty-two men dropped out of the Fifth, seven from the Ninth and eight from the Eighth. They were all genuine cases of sore feet or exhaustion. Two heavy showers drenched the boys, just as everybody supposed the rainy season was over. The pup tents were feeble shelter. Thousands went swimming in an irrigation ditch. Colonel Edward L. Logan took refuge in a combat wagon with Captain Murphy and attended to military duties. General Sweetser and staff broke their run of outdoor life by sleeping in a new adobe bungalow.

Chaplain O'Connor of the Ninth was comfortable in his new automobile. Captain Mains crept into a section of sewer pipe and kept dry. The Boston correspondents, rank and file, rolled up in blankets in pasty mud, all save the two luxurious representatives of morning papers, who sport the only canvas cots in camp. Many of the officers slept in supply wagons known as "Pullmans."

Captain W. G. Renwick of the machine gun company of the Eighth has left for Boston owing to the serious condition of his wife, who met with an accident.

HEALTH OFFICERS DESTROY BAD FRUIT

Fifty cases of immatured grapefruit, valued at $2,000, were seized by officers of the health department and destroyed. According to the health officers it is customary to turn the skin of the fruit yellow by a sweating process, but the acid remains unripened. The boxes were seized at the New Haven freight sheds, and after the fruit was sprayed with carbolic acid it was dumped in the harbor.

AMERICANS WILL REGISTER ABROAD

Washington, Oct. 6. — In order to make impossible a recurrence of the distressing conditions in Europe at the outbreak of the present war, when American consulates were besieged by more than 400,000 panic stricken Americans asking protection and relief, consular regulations have been so amended as to insure an accurate registry of all American citizens living abroad.

W. WALLACE HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Nashua, N. H., Oct. 6. — William Wallace, a wealthy resident of Laconia, was injured, probably fatally, when he was thrown from an automobile on the Lowell boulevard when the chauffeur, to avoid a bicyclist, drove the car into a ditch.

EAST BOSTON WOMAN BADLY WOUNDS SELF

Mrs. Agnes Jenkins, forty-six, of Saratoga street, East Boston, was taken to the Relief Hospital suffering from a deep wound in her breast. The police say she tried to end her life.

AGED MAN FOUND IN SALEM TUNNEL

Salem, Oct. 6. — The Salem police found George W. Wheeler, sixty, a Marblehead truck farmer, wandering through the Boston & Maine tunnel here. The police had been hunting for him many hours before he was found.

ACUTE AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM

The exact cause of rheumatism is unknown, though it is generally believed to be due to an excess of uric acid in the blood. It may be also said with equal truth that no remedy has been found which is a specific in all cases. In fact the literature of rheumatism shows that there are but few drugs which have not been given a trial. In the hands of one observer we find that a certain drug has been used with the utmost satisfaction; others have found the same remedy to be a great disappointment. All physicians however agree that every method of treatment is aided by the administration of some remedy to relieve the pain and quiet the nervous system and Dr. W. S. Schultze expresses the opinion of thousands of practitioners when he says that anti-kamnia tablets should be given preference over all other remedies for the relief of the pain in all forms of rheumatism. These tablets can be purchased in any quantity. They are also unsurpassed in headaches, neuralgias and all pain. Ask for A-K Tablets.

BROKER SMALL HELD FOR GRAND JURY ON CHARGE OF KILLING WIFE

ceive a mind so depraved that would consider this as a motive."

Attorney Matthews then referred to the opportunity set up by the State by picturing the happy home life of the Smalls and referred to Small's trip to Boston, stating that there was no secrecy about his leaving his home on the day of the murder. He then reviewed what took place when George Kennett, the hotel clerk, called with a carriage to take Small to the station. He told of the delivery of the mail by Kennett.

"Right there you get from the lips of Mr. Kennett that he heard Small bid his wife good-by," said the attorney.

Matthews then traced Small's movements from the time he left the house with Kennett until he reached the station. When Mr. Small got to the station he talked to several persons, continued the attorney.

"There was one man who did not remember whether he talked with Mr. Small. He did not remember anything. He was drunk. I do not say that Mr. Bean was connected with this crime, but in a case of this kind all things must be considered. Falsehood is legal evidence of crime.

SENSATIONAL RIDE.

Continuing, Attorney Matthews went over Small's trip to Boston with Conner and maintained that if he had committed the crime with which he is charged he would have betrayed some sign of nervousness or uneasiness.

The attorney touched upon the sensational auto ride back to Mountainview and explained how Conner had to support Small on his shoulder in the auto as a result of the shock the news had given him.

"If a man murders for money he does so to have money, not to expend it," stated Attorney Matthews.

"The oil can was found in the place it was left by Mr. Scaggel. If Mr. Small had burned the house you must give him credit for having some intelligence. Would he have bought that kerosene at 11 o'clock that morning? Would that be the natural thing to do? He ordered that kerosene as he ordered everything else, and it had no connection with the burning of that building."

After reviewing the condition of the Small home and the attitude of Small at the time of the grocer's visit, the attorney said: "They bring in a cord and a mask, but nothing has been shown what part the mask played in Mrs. Small's death. The person who committed that crime was bent on robbery, criminal assault or securing liquor. I say that as an illustration of what might have happened. It was the act of a fiend who started first one thing and did not finish it and so on.

"That crime was committed by a local man. Some man who could not take the jewelry without fear of it being found on him and identified. It is the duty of the prosecution to seek out that man and bring to justice the criminal.

"If the court sees fit to hold my client it must do so on the evidence submitted here."

CLAIM EVIDENCE IS LACKING.

Attorney Matthews closed the case for the defence with a fervid plea for Small's release on the ground of lack of evidence and the constitutional rights of his client.

It was eleven o'clock when Attorney-General Tuttle began the closing argument for the State and at the outset declared he purported to show why Small should be held for the grand jury.

"This is only a preliminary hearing," said the attorney-general. "When a felony has been committed and suspicion points at some man with a motive that man should be held for trial.

"Within a few months this man has taken out an insurance policy for $20,000. Have you ever heard of a case in New Hampshire where a murder was ever committed for $20,000? But I claim the motive exists in this case.

"We have established both a motive and an opportunity. The burden is not upon Your Honor to say whether the prisoner is guilty or not guilty, but simply to find probable cause. I submit, Your Honor, we have submitted sufficient evidence for a petty jury to convict this man. I believe everybody agrees the man who committed the murder set the fire.

"What was the character of that fire? It was a quick raging fire. Isn't kerosene a quick agency for fire and wasn't the can that was delivered full that morning later found empty?

"Did this man expect there was to be a fire? There was the inventory found in this man's grip with its padded prices. If he knew there was to be a fire then he knew there had been a murder."

"When he said that his wife's dress probably caught fire from sparks from the fireplace he did not know that the screen had been found in front of the fireplace. Again when he arrived at the ruins he spoke of $6,000 worth of diamonds that were in the ruins and he said anybody could have them if only they were found. He was looking toward the theory of robbery. Cunning—cunning as Lucifer."

The Attorney-General then argued that Small fired at his wife in the little house attached to the cottage, became frightened at the sound of the revolver and proceeded to finish the murder in a manner less likely to attract the attention of any person who may have been in the vicinity.

"ALL IN TEN MINUTES."

He also claimed that Small, to conceal the crime, covered his wife's body with resin, sprinkled oil about the cottage and fired the structure. The Atorney-General maintained that Small could have struck his wife over the head, shot her and strangled her with the cord from his motor boat, all in this ten minutes.

Tuttle bitterly denounced Small's character and argued that any man who could leave his wife alone in the wilderness at night while he was eating and drinking and enjoying himself in Boston was capable of committing any kind of a crime. The Attorney-General then referred to the manner that Small may have set the fire and been in Boston before it was discovered. He said that a candle stuck in a stick of wood in a pan of kerosene could possibly have been the agency. The prosecutor then referred to what Small had said upon receiving the telephone call from Ferren.

"When Small said 'I am all alone in the world,' he might just as well have said my wife has been murdered and I am the murderer,' shouted Attorney-General Tuttle, 'because he stated a fact that at that time nobody knew but the Almighty and the man who committed the crime.

"We have established a motive, we have established an opportunity and we have shown this man is capable of committing this crime, and I claim it is the duty of the court to hold the prisoner for the Grand Jury."

Judge Miles then announced that probable cause had been found and ordered Small held for the Grand Jury.

Most of the prosecution's case was centred upon a motion for the crime and much importance has been attached to an inventory of the articles in the cottage and workshop, which was found in Small's traveling bag.

SCORE A POINT.

The inventory was written upon stationery bearing the stamp of the Parker House in Boston. The time when Small is supposed to have made out the inventory has not been brought out. This document the prosecutor regarded as one of the strongest pieces of evidence introduced by the State at the hearing.

The State also scored a point when Edwin C. Connor, the schoolmaster who accompanied Small on his trip to Boston on the day Mrs. Small was slain, testified that he had seen the cord, found tied about the throat of Mrs. Small, in Small's motor boat. This cord is believed to have caused Mrs. Small's death.

The result of the examination of the contents of the stomach of the slain woman, which may go a long way toward solving the mystery, was not available today. The contents are still being analyzed by Professor Kingsford of Dartmouth College, whose report is not expected before a week or ten days. The report may show when Mrs. Small died.

TELLS OF INVENTORY.

The existence of the inventory came out during the testimony of High Sheriff Arthur W. Chandler, who arrested Small Friday morning in the Central House. Chandler declared that at that time the broker had in his possession a list which purported to be an inventory of the articles in his home—an inventory which included even the value of some cigars and candy.

Small made a grab for his handbag he had brought from Boston, but was prevented from opening it, Sheriff Chandler testified. The inventory was in the handbag, said Chandler.

This evidence was presented by the State as its trump card, it was believed. Ten witnesses gave evidence for the State.

The defence scored a number of times, including some of the testimony of Fred E. Bean, guard at the ruins, who told of seeing a mysterious flashlight playing on the ruins Friday night.

Bean was most sharply questioned by Attorney Mathews.

The witness, a short, stout man, with closely cropped hair, came into court wearing no collar or tie.

He was asked how well he knew Mr. and Mrs. Small. He could not state definitely where he was on the night of the murder. He admitted that on Thursdayof last week he had been drinking, but he denied that he was drunk.

Bean could not remember how he got some scratches on his face which Mathews said were seen Saturday. To a great many questions the witness replied: "I can't remember."

Under cross-examination by Attorney Mathews, Bean could not say definitely where he had worked or what he had done during the month of September or where he was on last Thursday, the day of the crime. He said he first heard of the fire about 6 o'clock Friday morning from S. Lafe Moulton. Bean denied having talked to the prisoner and Edwin C. Conner on the platform of the railroad station on Thursday afternoon.

CONNER ON STAND.

Bean, while describing the flashes of a flashlight he saw in the ruins, was asked:

Q.—What time did these flashlights appear? A.—Between 7 and 8 o'clock.

Edward C. Conner was a very important witness. The defence met his testimony that the rudder cord of Small's boat was not in the boat last Friday by having him testify also that the boat had been stripped for the Winter and that the rudder had been removed to the shed which formed the rear part of the cottage.

The prosecution obtained from Conner the admission that the handwriting in the inventory of the cottage and its contents looked like Small's.

Conner also said that when the articles on the inventory were read to him that he had seen most of them in the house.

However, after County Solicitor Hill produced the inventory, which placed a total value of $2,731.60 on the property and which was written on the stationery of the Parker House, Boston, Conner testified that on his trip to Boston with Small a week ago, the two had not stopped at the Parker House, but had merely gone in through the Tremont street entrance and directly out on School street. On the entire trip and until arrival here by automobile, moreover, the witness added, Small was not out of his sight.

In the inventory a value was placed upon the smallest articles in the house. Even a box of candy was inventoried for $1.40 and a value of $15 was set for "cigars."

The candy was under the subheading "living room and piazza." Under this same heading tobacco was inventoried for $2.

FORCE DOOR IN RAID ON CLINTON HOTEL

Clinton, Oct. 6.—The Berlin House was raided today by Deputy Sheriff C. C. Sanderson and Officers George A. Sampson, L. Conant, Welsley Cole and Arthur Brewer.

Much difficulty was found in obtaining admittance, as none of the inmates responded to repeated rapping. Finally a screen door was broken down and the officers entered. A search for liquor resulted in finding a keg of beer, twelve bottles of whiskey and two pints of wine. Two men and two women who the officers say were drunk were arrested charged with that offence, and a young girl, who was in the house was also taken to the Clinton station house for investigation.

$7,000 TO $10,000 WILSON WINS OHIO

New York, Sept. 6.—Election betting has turned again to the situation in Ohio.

An Ohio man, who is a Republican and well known in that party's councils, succeeded in wagering $7,000 against $10,000 that President Wilson would carry Ohio.

DYNAMITE WRECKS CAR AT ATLANTA

Atlanta, Oct. 6.—Passengers and the crew of a Woodward avenue car had a narrow escape early today when the car was wrecked by dynamite believed to have been placed on the tracks by sympathizers of striking car men. The windows of the car were shattered and the heavy rails broken in several places.

PREDICTS REBELLION OF GERMAN PEOPLE

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 6.—Sir Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, returned yesterday from England and the front after an absence of nearly three months, predicting certain victory for the entente allies and a rebellion in Germany.

"I am no prophet," he said, "but I can say that the spirit of the German soldiers is being broken. One regiment of Germans, which was wiped out by the Canadians the other day, had been formed only two weeks previously from remnants of ten crack German regiments, and yet they disappeared.

"This war will be won by pounding, and it is a long road to Berlin. I believe before many months a rebellion must break out throughout the length and breadth of the German empire."

Are you going on flat tires?

Imagine the discomfort of riding in an automobile with all tires flat? What a shaking-up you'd get.

You wouldn't think of riding in a machine that had even one flat tire.

Yet, when you walk with hard heels on hard city pavements, you get the same jolts and jars that you would get from an automobile without tires.

Your system is jolted, your nerves are shocked, your spinal column jarred.

At the end of every day you feel worn out just as you would feel worn out after a day's ride in a machine with flat tires.

Relieve this constant strain. O'Sullivan's Heels of New Live Rubber absorb the jolts that now wear you out.

Have a pair put on today. You will notice the difference at once; more vim, less fatigue.

When you buy your new shoes, buy them O'Sullivanized. Up-to-date shoe dealers now sell latest style shoes with O'Sullivan's Heels already attached.

Insist on O'Sullivanized shoes—the new live rubber heels give the greatest wear with the greatest resiliency.

FRANCONIA SUNK BY SUBMARINE; 12 MISSING

By International News Service.

London, Oct. 6.—The 18,150-ton trans-Atlantic liner, Franconia, of the Cunard Line has been sunk by an enemy submarine, according to a Lloyds announcement.

The Franconia had not been in passenger-carrying service recently, being on transport duty in the Mediterranean. When sunk there were no troops on board the liner.

This statement is confirmed by the Admiralty, which adds that twelve of the crew of 302 are unaccounted for.

The Franconia was built in 1910 and was on the Liverpool-Boston run of the Cunard Line.

The maiden voyage of the Franconia was made to Boston, the liner having been built primarily for the Boston-Liverpool service.

The Franconia was launched, July 23, 1910, from the yards of Messrs. Swan, Hunter & Wigham, Ltd., and was the largest steamer launched in England in that year. She was a sister ship of the Laconia.

The Franconia was the largest and the fastest boat to enter Boston harbor. Her maiden voyage was marked by a banquet given aboard by the Cunard Company, when the ship reached Boston. At that time representative Boston business men made the development of Boston harbor the keynote of their addresses.

The liner was 625 feet long and seventy-two feet wide and displaced 25,000 tons. When built she was considered one of the most comfortable steamers of the Cunard line.

A striking feature of the saloon appointments was the absence of staterooms on the boat deck, which was devoted to promenade room, a library, gymnasium and a lounge and smoking room.

CALLED "BATH SHIP."

The vessel was nicknamed the "Bath Ship," inasmuch as she had more bathrooms and showers than the Mauretania, this equipment being installed for the benefit of passengers bound for long cruises to the Mediterranean.

The steerage of the Franconia was considered the best in appointments of any steamer carrying third-class passengers. The old idea of steerage compartments had been eliminated and staterooms capable of accommodating four, six and eight persons had been installed.

Boston has always had a sentimental attachment to the ill-fated Franconia. One incident of the festivities attending its second departure from this port in June, 1911, still remains in the memory of those who were a part of it.

Mayor Fitzgerald and two of his daughters were passengers on the outgoing liner, and in recognition of his work in their fight for salary increases, the Elementary Teachers' Association that day sent a delegation down the harbor on the Monitor, which was acting as escort.

Whistles of all sorts, from land and water, made the harbor passage riotous with noise. But when the big liner, according to custom, came almost to a standstill off Boston Light to drop the pilot, all was quiet, and the vessels rode lightly in water of mill-pond smoothness. The Mayor mounted to the bridge to witness the departure of the pilot, and his familiar figure was at once recognized from the deck of the Monitor.

SANG "SWEET ADELINE."

Across the smooth waters came the megaphoned request from the Monitor, "We want 'Sweet Adeline!'"

The resourceful Mayor cheerfully complied, and through a huge megaphone, which he took from the bridge, the familiar words and tune came floating over the waves. As the last, long-drawn-out "Adeline" faded away, bells clanged on the big liner and, amidst cheers and waving of handkerchiefs, the Franconia sped on its way.

The last official report as to the Franconia in June, 1915, announced that she had been chartered to carry British troops to the Dardanelles.

At the outbreak of the war in Europe the liner was in Boston. She was scheduled to sail from Boston on August 4, 1914, but her departure was held up until August 8.

PREDICT TWO DOLLAR WHEAT

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Two-dollar wheat has been predicted by Chicago grain men before the first of January. Prices today, both cash and futures, ranged about ten cents lower than the record price established in January, 1915, immediately following the outbreak of the European war.

The heavy decrease in this year's crop, coupled with discouraging conditions in Argentina and the demand of the Allies for available Australian and Canadian wheat, were pointed to as factors in the present high price. It was stated today at the Board of Trade that the Northwest has practically no wheat of seed quality and that good seed wheat was now selling at from $4 to $5 a bushel.

Dealers in cash wheat say that the Northwestern farmers are practically all adhering to the decision not to sell wheat at less than $2 a bushel, while the receipts of grain from other primary shipping points are extremely light. December wheat has reached $1.59¾, as against $1.06 one year ago. May is $1.55¾, against $1.07¼ a year ago. Cash wheat is selling around $1.65, depending on the grade, while the millers are eagerly snapping up all available milling wheat.

As a result of wheat conditions millers say flour continues its steady rise. Special brands were quoted today in Chicago at $9.10 a barrel wholesale. Millers say that if the wheat advance continues flour prices will have to keep the pace.

BOSTON SCHOONER IS ON WEST CAPE

Word was received here that the three-masted Boston schooner Ruth Robinson, owned by the Atlantic Maritime Company of this city, is probably a total loss at Prince Edward Island. The vessel, in command of Captain Cook of Dorchester, was on the way from Charlottetown, P. E. I., to Gaspe, P. Q., to load lumber for New York. She lost her bearings in a heavy fog and ran ashore on West Cape. All hands reached shore in safety.

JAPAN TO PLEDGE U. S. 'OPEN DOOR'

Washington, Oct. 6.—Japan will make concessions to public sentiment in the United States, according to cable information reaching a high diplomatic source today.

Within a short time the new cabinet will issue a statement of intentions which officials here say will be of a most conciliatory character. It will defend the aggressive action heretofore taken in China, on the ground that it was necessary, owing to the failure of the Chinese government to rule certain provinces with a strong hand, but will insist that the "open door" policy to which the United States is pledged will be rigidly adhered to.

The action is due, confidential advices say, to the realization by the Japanese that the appointment of Field Marshal Count Seika Terauchi as Premier has caused unfavorable comment in this country. The fact that the new Premier is the leader of the military party and stands for increased expenditures for the army and navy has made it plain to America that the new Japanese policy is to be strengthened so far as foreign relations are concerned.

SHEPARD NORWELL COMPANY

CHARGE 'L' ROAD HAS DISOBEYED LAW IN SOUTH BOSTON CHANGES

The Trade Association of South Boston made protest by letter direct to the Public Service Commission today against changes in South Boston trolley car service which the Elevated proposes to put into effect tomorrow.

The protest not only makes renewed criticism of the changes, as causing extra inconvenience to the public, but also raises the point that the Elevated has not complied with the law regarding advance notice of intended changes.

The commission is warned that, if it permits the Elevated to make these changes without due notice, it will be countenancing an unlawful act.

The letter of protest was written by President John J. Toomey and Secretary James E. Coveney of the Trade Association and said in part:

CHARGE BREACH OF LAW.

"The Boston Elevated Railway Company is obeying the statute of 1916, to wit, chapter 259 of the General Acts, which reads, in section 1, 'All street railway companies, now existing or hereafter established, shall furnish the public with full information, by notice posted for seven consecutive days prior to the date when the same are to take effect, etc.'

"We beg to call your attention to the fact that the Boston Elevated Railway Company has not posted for seven consecutive days prior to the date when same are to take effect, etc. The facts are that on Wednesday, September 27, there was placed in the street cars, or some of them, printed notices of proposed changes on the Broadway Extension-North Station line of cars.

"The twenty-five such notices in each car disappeared before Saturday, September 30, and there has not been a notice in the cars of that line since that day, Saturday, Sept. 30. If the statutes mean anything (and surely we must believe they do) that section means that notices must be posted for seven consecutive days prior to the date when the same are to take effect in the cars of the lines affected. Seven days prior to October 7 (the date the changes are to go into effect) was September 30, and there has not been a notice within those seven days.

"The Boston Elevated Railway Company, if it makes its proposed changes on Saturday, October 7, will be violating the statutes of Massachusetts of 1916. If the Public Service Commission, after now being informed of the actual conditions, permits the Boston Elevated Railway Company to make changes in the running of cars, without the seven consecutive days' notice, we most respectfully call attention to the fact that your honorable board will be countenancing a violation of the statutes.

REPEAT OBJECTIONS.

"For the Trade Association of South Boston and in the interests of the 80,000 residents of South Boston, we hereby repeat our objections as made known to you recently.

"The discontinuance of the Broadway Extension-North Station line of cars from the Dorchester street transfer station (ten-minute time) and changing the ten-minute time from City Point of similar cars to a seven and eight minute time, alternating, will deprive the people of the present five-minute service; that the patrons below Dorchester street will be particularly inconvenienced and we further claim that the Boston Elevated Railway Company has no right to reduce a service on a line so well patronized and where now, even, the accomodations are inadequate.

"We further object to the turning back at L street of the present line of cars that starts and returns to City Point, and if permitted will decrease a service to 20,000 of the City Point section."

PACIFIC SPANNED BY WIRELESS WAVE

San Francisco, Oct. 6.—Wireless waves spanned the Pacific Ocean today. The San Francisco Marconi wireless station was in direct communication with a Japanese government wireless plant at Ootri-ishi, Japan, 5,800 miles away. It was a test preliminary to inauguration of a wireless commercial service. Previously Honolulu has relayed wireless messages between Japan and the United States.

TWO KILLED IN MONTANA RACE WAR

Billings, Mont., Oct. 6.—Two white men were killed and one wounded in a race war between whites and negroes near Nihill, on the Great Northern Railroad, in Meagher County, according to advices received here today. Seven negroes are said to have done the shooting. Five are under arrest. Two white men are held at Cushman.

Recipes for Wives Are Announced by Inez Milholland

By International News Service.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissevain has a few ideas of domestic happiness, ideas, which she had long before she met and proposed to Mr. Boissevain. Mrs. Boissevain has incorporated those ideas into the following recipes for wives, which she made public while here today:

"Don't be a clinging vine.

"Don't let friend husband order you around. It's bad for him.

"It gives him an exaggerated opinion of his importance, as those who are strong to command at home usually are taking all the orders elsewhere.

"If husband's love seems to be growing cold, go out and get a job. Pay the bills—that is, your share of them. Take him out to dinner. Meet him half way and make him do the same for you.

"If you prefer to manage his household accept in payment half of his salary. You are worth it."

LOOM SHOP BURNS AT GOSSVILLE, N. H.

Gossville, N. H., Oct. 6.—Fire in the three-story wooden factory of the Barmer Narrow Fabric Company of this town early today, completely destroyed the building and its contents, causing a damage the owners estimate at $100,000. The company manufactures looms. There was no one in the building at the time. No cause has been assigned for the fire.

MRS. VERNON CASTLE SUED FOR COSTUMES

New York, Oct. 6.—Michael Blakeman, manager for Hickson, Inc., No. 661 Fifth avenue, brought suit yesterday in the Supreme Court of the Bronx to recover $699 from Mrs. Vernon Castle. Blackman alleged that Mrs. Castle contracted for $1,159 paid only $500 on the bill. worth of wearing apparel between December 7 and 20 of last year, but

HOLD 4 SUSPECTS IN AUTO MURDER

Burlington, N. J., Oct. 6.—Three men and a woman, the latter alleged to be the leader of the band, were arrested in Philadelphia today as suspects in the attempt to steal a $4,000 payroll intended for cranberry pickers, when Mrs. Elsie R. Smathers of Hammonton, although wounded three times, drove an automobile through them to safety.

Her uncle, Henry D. Rider of Howell, Michigan, was shot and killed. Her father, Andrew D. Rider, known as the "cranberry king," was seriously wounded and her father's chaffeur was shot seven times. Both men may die.

Mrs. Smathers is expected to recover. Mrs. Smathers, who is twenty-six, is a widow of three weeks. The $4,000 carried in the machine was the bi-weekly payroll for her father's cranberry pickers.

The prisoners were Mrs. Mille de Marco, twenty-one, Guiseppe Russo, Frank Vessalo and Frank Ladona, all of this city.

The four are alleged to have been traced through a Pennsylvania motor license number. The car was seen at Atsion, New Jersey, near the place where the murder occurred yesterday morning. It carried ten men and the woman and the crowding of the occupants into the machine drew such comment that a resident jotted down the number—114220—which resulted in the arrests. The prisoners will be given a hearing later today.

FEAR HINDUS WILL KILL POET TAGORE

By International News Service.

San Francisco, Oct. 6.—Extraordinary precautions are being taken by the police today to guard Sir Rabindranath Tagore, Hindu poet and Nobel prize winner, following the discovery of an alleged plot to assassinate him. As a result Tagore has cancelled some of his speaking engagements in California.

"Professor Bishen Singh, a venerable Hindu who came from Stockton to see Tagore, was assaulted in the street by other Hindus. It was said Bishen Singh was seeking to induce Tagore to refrain from his pro-British utterances regarding India. Police blame enmity between the Gadar Party and the Khalsa Diwan society, which differ widely as to the means to be employed in ending British reign in India, for the plot against Tagore.

TRY $5,000 SUIT OF WOMAN FOR FALL

How Mrs. Beatrice Barcena's New Year's greeting to her friends were indefinitely postponed because of a fall down a flight of stairs when she was looking for a telephone booth, was told Judge O'Connell and a jury in the Suffolk Superior Court today, where she is suing Andrew McArthur of Cambridge street for $5,000.

Mrs. Barcena testified that she was living on Temple street, in the West End, when the accident occurred, December 31, 1914.

Shortly before midnight, she said she conceived the idea of calling up some of her friends by telephone and wishing them a happy New Year.

On reaching the street, she said she asked a policeman to direct her to the nearest public telephone. He told her there was a telephone in McArthur's restaurant on Cambridge street, only a short distance away.

On reaching the store, Mrs. Barcena told the court she asked a waiter to direct her to the telephone booth. He pointed to a door. According to Mrs. Barcena's story the door led to a flight of stairs down which she fell to the cellar.

The New Year's greetings were never sent. Mrs. Barcena said she suffered injuries as the result of the Fall.

CHELSEA STRIKE FIGHT; ARREST TWO

Trouble between the employes of the A. G. Walton Shoe Company of Chelsea, who have been out on strike seven weeks, and the strike-breakers came again today with the result that two men were arrested and booked on the charge of carrying revolvers without permits. They are Guy Chinchello of Chestnut street, Chelsea, and John Gabriel of Spear place, Boston.

The trouble occurred on the Chelsea Common close by the factory on Heard street. It is there that the strikers have congregated since they went out several weeks ago. Close by the Common is a large pile of crushed stone, placed there by the street department for repairs. According to the police this stone pile has served as an ammunition base for the strikers during the trouble between them and those who have taken their places. Rocks were thrown today at the strike-breakers, the police say.

They charge that Chinchello had his arm raised to throw a stone when a patrolman grabbed him.

The settlement of the strike apparently is as far away as ever. The company is said to have agreed to comply with all the demands of the strikers with the exception of recognizing the United Shoe Workers of America, the organization to which the employes who are out, belong.

MARSHALL SAYS T. R. WANTS WAR

Milwaukee, Oct. 6.—In a speech here last night Vice-President Marshall declared that a Republican victory this Fall is likely to mean war.

"There is no one who wants war save Roosevelt," said Mr. Marshall. "And if the Republicans are successful you will see Roosevelt marching on Berlin by way of Mexico."

Mr. Marshall defended the Adamson eight-hour-day law and the administration's stand on the tariff.

Money for French Fund.

Money for Orphans.

Allen Forbes, treasurer of the Orphelinat des Armees, acknowledges further contributions to the fund amounting to $636.62, making the total amount contributed to date $65,431.86.

Hill Estate More Than $100,000,000

By International News Service.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 6.—The estate of James J. Hill probably exceeds $100,000,000. The inventory of the estate has been filed in the Probate Court.

So great are the number of securities, and in many cases unknown, that it will be months before an accurate estimate of the estate will be possible.

Theodore A. Schulze, president of the Foote Schulze Company, shoe manufacturers of St. Paul, and Major Thomas P. Wilson, formerly receiver of the Union Pacific Railroad, were appointed receivers by Probate Judge Basilla. T. W. Hill, son of James J. Hill, is administrator of the estate.

YOUR BABY NEED NOT SUFFER FROM SKIN TROUBLES

For What Cuticura Did For This Baby It Will Do For Yours.

"When my baby was two months old a rash appeared on his head and it turned to a scaly substance. I had him treated but it kept eating to his eyebrows, and his hair fell out when rubbed with the finger tips. Then the rash broke out on his face, hands, and body. His skin was red and sore and he would cry and scratch until his face and head would bleed. He was cross and irritable and never slept longer than a half an hour, day or night.

"A neighbor advised me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After the first treatment he had his first good night's rest so I continued using them, and in three weeks all traces of the eczema had vanished. He was healed." (Signed) Mrs. E. Beidler, 8 Hamilton St., Hartford, Conn., April 17, 1916.

Clear the pores of impurities by daily use of Cuticura Soap and occasional touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soften, soothe and heal. They are ideal for every toilet and nursery purpose.

ALL RUMANIANS OUT OF BULGARIA

By International News Service.

Sofia, via London, Oct. 6.—"Not a single Rumanian soldier remains on our side of the Danube," says an official statement of the Bulgarian War Office today. The report announces the repulse of the allies' attack on the Struma River in Greek Macedonia and also assaults delivered by the Russo-Rumanian forces in Dobrudja.

The text of the report follows:

"Enemy artillery bombarded unsuccessfully the railway station at Poroy. On the Struma front there has been artillery, rifle and mitrailleuse firing. The enemy tried to advance from Orlik bridgehead towards Nevelon, but failed.

"On the Rumanian front calm prevails on the Danube. The crossing of the enemy near Bahovo was completely repulsed. Not a single Rumanian soldier remains on our side of the Danube.

"In Dobrudja (Rumania) all the enemy's attempts to advance on our positions along the line of Karabak-Asof-Onar-Amusarocka-Pervalia failed."

WAR SUMMARY

The Rumanian situation cleared up somewhat today. The Rumanian force which crossed the Danube south of Bucharest has been smashed and driven back across the Danube. Just how heavy was its loss is impossible to say; but it is admitted by the Rumanians that there are now no Rumanians south of the Danube at this point. The Rumanian force appears to have numbered not more than fifteen or sixteen thousand men, and probably considerably less. The bridge in the rear of this force was smashed by Austrian monitors, so that only a small proportion escaped.

There is fighting along almost the entire Rumanian frontier. In the Dobrudja, the most important region, the situation remains at a standstill. Near the Iron Gate the Rumanians have the advantage. Along the Transylvania frontier the tide of battle is swaying now toward one, and now toward the other.

Subsequent events have proved that the German victory south of Hermannstadt a few days ago was of only local significance. The Rumanian force destroyed there was probably not more than an army corps in strength; and the Rumanian defeat resulted only in a dent in their line at that point.

The Somme front was relatively quiet today; but London reports an extension of activities with attacks near Loos and Armentieres and south of Arras. It will be surprising if the allies give up their Somme drive for other efforts now, however; for on the Somme front they would seem to be on the point of forcing back a considerable section of the German line.

The Grand Duke has been shipped to Rumania, according to dispatches from London. Nevertheless—or perhaps because relieved of the incubus of his presence—the Russians in the Caucasus claim to have inflicted a considerable defeat upon the Turkish forces before them. This Caucasus campaign, however, is beginning to assume some of the aspects of the Dardanelles campaign. It is interesting to observe—when one considers that Turkey is continually referred to as a weak and tottering power which, when the war ends, will be allotted only a small territory in Asia—that this pitiful old nation still maintains all but outlying and unimportant fringes of her territory intact against the assaults of two of the greatest powers in the world—England and Russia.

U. S. WAR AVIATORS WITHIN THE LAW

Washington, Oct. 6.—The United States will take no action as a result of the various complaints from Teutonic sources that American aviators are at the front with the French flying corps. Officials declare that exhaustive consideration of all complaints has convinced them that American aviators have kept strictly within the bounds of international law. Every American who has served with the allies, it is explained, has left the United States voluntarily.

Prominent Crescent Hill Ave. Man Claims Plant Juice Made a New Man of Him

To all who suffer from the symptoms of a deranged stomach, liver, kidney trouble or rheumatism, immediate relief is at hand in the use of the new herbal stomach remedy, Plant Juice. Nothing that science has put forth from the laboratory of Nature has so quickly sprung into world-wide fame and prominence as has this preparation. Wherever introduced it has taken immediate hold on the public and brought forth words of praise from people in all stations of life. It does all and more than is claimed for it, as verified by the statements of well known people in your own home city. Possibly your next-door neighbor has proven that this notable remedy has been remarkably successful as a germ-destroyer, tissue-builder and a builder-up of wasted organs.

The signed statement of Mr. George A. Disston, who lives at No. 106 Crescent Hill Ave., Arlington, a prominent contractor and builder of that city, was recently received. He said:

"I suffered for 22 years with stomach trouble, which took the form of indigestion and dyspepsia, and for 10 years past I have had great trouble with fermentation of food, and my stomach was badly bloated with gas. I had headaches, could not sleep at night and got in such a weak condition that last Spring I fell in a heap on the floor, and my family thought I was surely gone. The gas pressed on my heart and caused severe palpitation; I had pains all over my body and I had to quit work, as I could scarcely get around. I had tried all kinds of medicines, but never got any permanent benefit until I started to take your Plant Juice. That seemed to reach the spot and has made a new man of me. I have no more aches or pains and can truthfully say that I am completely relieved. Plant Juice was worth all kinds of money to me and I am glad to recommend it to others."

The Plant Juice Man is at The Drug Department of the Houghton & Dutton store, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

500-MILE FRONT IN BALKAN BATTLE

By SIDNEY B. CAVE.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, Oct. 6.—Balkan battles upon which the ultimate fate of the war may depend are raging today on fronts that aggregate a width of nearly 500 miles. Bulgar-German armies are being pounded on the north and south by the British, French, Russians, Italians, Serbians and Rumanians.

The fate of the Rumanian army that invaded Bulgaria near Rustchuk is still much in doubt. According to Sofia it was completely routed and practically annihilated. Bucharest says that the Rumanians, being set upon by superior numbers, were compelled to retreat across the Danube. This is borne out by the German War Office, which does not claim the Rumanians were wiped out, however.

The Rumanian losses are believed to have been heavy. Although the Rumanians were defeated in this quarter their pressure against the Austro-German forces in Hungary has not been lessened. Near Orsova the Rumanians have gained fresh ground, pressing back the Austro-Hungarian defenders.

In battles the past week in Greek Macedonia the British and French have both inflicted defeats upon the Bulgarians. French troops are shelling the Bulgarians, indicating that infantry assaults will follow on the Vardar River section of the front.

Serbian troops are nearly in sight of Monastir and are within easy artillery range of this objective.

On the western end of the Macedonian front the Bulgarians have been forced out of Greece and fighting is proceeding upon Serbian soil.

In the Dobrudja section the forces of General Mackensen appeared to have been halted by the Russo-Rumanian army.

KAISER OFF ON TRIP TO RUSSIAN FRONT

London, Oct. 6.—Emperor William has started for the front of General von Linsingen, near Lutsk, where the principal fighting is taking place on the Russian line.

At various places in this sector and in Galicia, Petrograd asserts that the Austro-Germans have been defeated. Berlin, however, takes issue with the Russian War Office statement and declares the Russians were generally checked.

The only place at which, according to this statement, the Russians were able to penetrate the German trenches was north of Zubilin, in the Lutsk district, and here they were subsequently ejected in a counter-attack.

The Russian offensive, which halted temporarily while fresh supplies were being brought up to the front, is again in full swing on the entire southern portion of the front. Tremendous efforts are being made by the Czar's forces, according to dispatches from correspondents at the front. The Austro-German resistance apparently is stiffer than during the early stages of the drive, however, the defence of Lemberg and along the Volhynia lines being especially determined.

BRAZIL HARD HIT BY GREAT WAR

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 6.—The European war has caught the second great South American country in its iron claws and is crushing it into financial and industrial depression, according to consular reports received here today.

Brazil, the second of the A. B. C. countries, is in bad shape financially, and will be unable to recover from the pressure to which she has been subjected for several years, according to the reports. About a month ago a similar report was received concerning Argentina.

Today's report states that the French people, who hold about 40 per cent. of Brazil's obligations, have lost heavily upon them. The principal underlying cause for Brazil's financial troubles is over-expansion and over-capitalization of the rubber industry. The rubber boom of a few years ago brought about too much speculation, it is stated in the report, and with the additional weight of the European war on general trade conditions in Brazil have become chaotic.

This will mean that a large market has been lost to exporters and manufacturers of the U. S. who have been counting on building up a lucrative South American trade.

PEACE KEYNOTE OF WILSON TALK

On Board President Wilson's Special Train, Clinton, Ia., Oct. 6.—Peace probably will be made the keynote of all of President Wilson's speeches from now until election.

Both the President and the advisers who made the Western trip with him were immensely pleased today over the manner in which his peace utterances at Omaha were received. He has been strongly advised to immediately press the necessity for peace in future speeches.

The hyphenates also are to come in for some severe arraignment at the hands of the President, according to well informed sources. These two features, along with a little more pressure on the "America for the world" idea, will form the chief subjects of President Wilson's public utterances during October.

A hint of a revival of the league of nations movement was contained in the President's Omaha address, and it is possible that some action in this way may be forthcoming soon.

ALLIES DRIVE GREEKS FROM ALBANIAN SOIL

Milan, Oct. 6.—The territory held by the Italians in Southern Albania extends from the mouth of the Vojussa, north of Valona, to Santi Quaranta, a stretch of about sixty miles along the coast and about eighteen to twenty inland. This territory is coveted by Greece and was occupied by Greek troops until they were compelled by Italy's protest and the pressure of the allies to withdraw.

Spent Millions on Road.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 6.—For fifteen years the average daily expense of operating the 6,000 miles of the Northern Pacific Railroad has been $145,780, or $53,741,555 a year, according to a statement issued by the road.

BRITISH PUSH LINES FORWARD

By SIDNEY B. CAVE.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, Oct. 6.—Fighting in France now is extending beyond the Somme and Verdun areas, to which it has been confined for the past six months. In its official statement today the War Office announced a gas attack east of Loos and fighting east of Armentieres on the Franco-Belgian border and south of Arras.

The text of the official report follows:

"During the night there was artillery activity south of the Ancre. Northeast of Faucourt-L'Abbaye we have advanced our lines. We discharged gas east of Loos, east of Armentieres. Three successful trench raids were carried out in the Loos area and two south of Arras."

FRENCH ARTILLERY IN NIGHT BATTLE

By International News Service.

Paris, Oct. 6.—The following official statement was issued today by the War Office:

"North of the Somme, the night was marked by artillery activity on both sides in the sector of Quennevieres.

"One of our reconnaissance detachments penetrated to an enemy support trench and bombarded it with grenades.

"On the Verdun front there was violent artillery activity on both sides. The enemy bombarded the Cote de Poivre (Pepper Hill), the Laufee wood and the Apremont forest.

"Our artillery dispersed enemy works north of the Mollet wood.

"Despite adverse atmospheric conditions our aviators carried out twenty-two flights in which they routed enemy machines by their fire."

SAYS WRIGHT GIVES PATENTS TO BRITAIN

By International News Service.

London, Oct. 6.—The Evening News announced this afternoon that Orville Wright, the American inventor of the aeroplane, had presented his aeroplane patents to Great Britain.

GERALDINE FARRAR SINGS IN BANGOR

Bangor, Me., Oct. 6.—The twentieth annual Eastern Maine Musical Festival opened in the Bangor Auditorium with an audience of about 4,000, said to be the largest in the history of the Bangor festival. Director William R. Chapman conducted the festival orchestra of fifty pieces, mostly New York and Boston musicians, and the festival chorus, made up of Eastern Maine local choruses, about 800 voices. It was prima donna night, with Geraldine Farrar in the principal numbers.

EASTERN FIGHTING RIVALS THE SOMME

By International News Service.

London, Oct. 6.—Fighting in the eastern war theatre, particularly on the Korytnica-Zubilno front, where the Russians have massed at least 1,000 cannon, rivals the fierceness of hostilities on the Somme, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch today from Copenhagen.

This dispatch is based on information telegraphed to the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger by its correspondent in Russia. German officers state that the bombardments are as violent as those in Verdun and Somme fronts.

INAUGURATE HOPKINS AT DARTMOUTH

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 6.—Ernest Martin Hopkins of the class of 1901 was inaugurated as the eleventh president of Dartmouth College today in the presence of a great throng of alumni, undergraduates and outside friends of the college.

The exercises began with prayers in Rollins Chapel, led by Professor Emeritus John K. Lord.

The inaugural procession formed as follows: Escort of seniors, the marshals, the president and Governor Spaulding of New Hampshire, the trustees, the delegates and guests, Governor's Council and staff, the faculty, alumni and undergraduates.

The official representatives of the student body were the members of Paleopitus and the officers of the classes, as follows: 1917, R. G. Paine, J. W. Emery, A. B. Gile and R. H. Baxter; 1918, P. S. Miner, J. E. McMahon, W. R. Christgau and S. B. Jones; 1919, G. E. Cogswell, S. C. Fitts and E. G. Neely, and 1920, J. R. Jordan, E. H. Bruce, F. Johnson and A. Wilson.

MARCH TO WEBSTER HALL.

The imposing line marched into Webster Hall, where the inaugural took place. Following the Doxology came the introduction of the new president and the presentation of the charter or induction into office.

President Hopkins was then welcomed into the Wheelock succession and was presented by his predecessor, former President Ernest Fox Nichols, with the heirloom of office. This is the famous silver punch bowl brought to Dartmouth by Governor Wentworth of New Hampshire and presented to Eleazer Wheelock at the first Dartmouth commencement. Former President Nichols spoke on "Knowing Dartmouth College."

LETTER FROM DR. TUCKER.

A letter from President Emeritus William Jewett Tucker was read. T. L. Cotton, '17, of Cheyenne, Wyoming, the varsity tackle, was undergraduate orator.

President Hopkins, the newly installed executive, delivered his inaugural address. It was on the subject: "The Future of the American College."

VENIZELOS SAILS FOR MYTILENE

London, Oct. 6.—A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Canean, island of Crete, says:

"The Greek provisional government, composed of President Venizelos, Admiral Coundouitis and General Panyotis Danglis, together with their suite, departed Wednesday aboard the steamer Hesperia, presumably for Mytilene.

"The administration of the island has been organized, with former Minister of Public Instruction Tsirimokos as governor."

BROOM CORN NOW AT RECORD PRICE

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 6.—Broom corn now is bringing western farmers $200 a ton, a record price, and broom factories in Kansas City say that the price probably will go higher. Brooms that were selling at 20 cents two years ago are now 50 cents, and the best quality now sells as high as $1. A shortage in brush is the cause, the crop having been greatly damaged by too much wet weather last year and too much dry weather this year.

ANNOUNCE LIST OF TROOPS TO RETURN

Washington, Oct. 6.—The War Department today announced a complete list of National Guard units now under orders to return to their home stations as partially announced by General Funston yesterday. Among them are:

Connecticut—Second Infantry, two cavalry troops, field hospital and ambulance company.

Massachusetts—Brigade headquarters, Fifth, Eighth and Ninth infantry, cavalry squadron and signal corps battalion.

New contingents will be stationed as follows: New Hampshire, Troop A, Brownsville; New Hampshire Signal Company, Fort Sam Houston; New Hampshire Field Hospital, Deming, N. M.

Six Indicted In Blackmail Trust

By International News Service.

New York, Oct. 6.—Six alleged members of the "million-dollar blackmail gang," the nation-wide activities of which were revealed recently by Edward West, wealthy Chicago coffee merchant, were indicted today by the Federal Grand Jury here. Warrants were issued for their immediate arrest. Those indicted are:

William Butler of Philadelphia, alleged "brains" of the syndicate.

Buda Goodman, alias Alice Williams, a beautiful young woman now under arrest in Chicago, charged with having been the lure for the blackmailers' victims.

Homer T. French and James Christian, now in the Cook county jail, Chicago.

Two others, whose names are withheld from publication at this time.

C. H. GENTSCH OF CLINTON MISSING

Clinton, Oct. 6.—Attorney Charles H. Gentsch has been missing since 9 o'clock yesterday morning. He had been in poor health.

Today a number of mill operatives and personal friends of the missing man have been scouring the thick woods and the shores of ponds.

16 AUTO DRIVERS FINED IN COURT

Twenty-one automobilists were arraigned before Judge Churchill in the Dorchester court today, charged with violations of the automobile laws on Columbia road, Dorchester. Thirteen of the defendants were fined $5 each, two $15, one $10, and five were placed on file.

A Practically Perfect Preparation.

YEARS of experience have enabled Mr. Fletcher to make Castoria a practically perfect preparation. These years of labor: the amount of money required to introduce its merits to the public: the investment in its manufacture, including the most modern machinery, mean a vast amount of invested capital. It follows that the greatest care is exercised in the selection of each ingredient, and the greatest attention is paid to every detail of its preparation. The result is the practically perfect preparation in the finished product; Fletcher's Castoria.

Herein lies the guarantee of the absolute safety in the use of Fletcher's Castoria for the baby, and the warning against irresponsible makers of imitations and counterfeits. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher that is printed in black on the wrapper and red on the bottle is the mother's safeguard.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mrs. John W. Derrick, of Lexington, S. C., says: "My children cry for Castoria, I could not do without it."

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gaines, of Ripley, Tenn., say: "We enclose our baby's picture hoping it will induce some poor tired mothers to give your Castoria a trial. We have used it since baby was two weeks old."

Mrs. J. G. Parman, of Nashville, Tenn., says: "The perfect health of my baby is due to your Castoria—the first and only medicine he has taken. He is never satisfied with one dose, he always cries for more."

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Johnson, of Stevens Point, Wis., say: "When our baby was two weeks old he cried so much we did everything for him, then got some Castoria and he is now strong and fat. We would not be without it, and are very thankful to you."

MANY PRAY FOR SUNDAY'S SUCCESS

"Ten thousand persons of Greater Boston will be praying for the success of the Sunday campaign by next week," claims the Rev. Charles E. Paige, chairman of the prayer meetings.

The largest number of prayer meetings in homes are in Somerville and Roxbury. East Boston, as well as South Boston and Dorchester, are increasing in numbers. Brookline has a number and is tenth on the list. The Back Bay district, occupied largely with [illegible] and Episcopalians, has not one prayer meeting to its credit. It is expected that the First Baptist Church will have a few prayer meetings in the homes of the Back Bay before the end of next week.

The [illegible] of the tabernacle has been made fireproof with sawdust and cement upon which the wooden platform rests. The [illegible] for the restaurant will be laid Saturday.

The Rev. Dr. D. M. Lockrow will speak Sunday [illegible] in Tremont Temple on "The Devil's Greatest Hindrances to Billy Sunday's Revival."

Men's forum in many churches will discuss Sunday [illegible] plans of a local nature to emphasize the importance of the Sunday campaign.

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast. —Advertisement

EAT LESS MEAT AND TAKE SALTS IF KIDNEYS HURT

Says a tablespoonful of Salts flushes Kidneys, stopping Backache.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Advertisement.

HAPPENINGS IN SOCIETY

Miss Priscilla Thorp New Leader of Radcliffe '19.

PHOTOGRAPH BY JAMIESON

A Boston debutante, Miss Priscilla Thorp, whose presentation was one of the smart events of last year, has been chosen president of the Class of 1919 at Radcliffe.

Miss Thorp, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph [illegible] Thorp of No. 115 Brattle street, Cambridge, was [illegible] at the coming out of a number of last year's [illegible] and was [illegible] hostess at several [illegible] of the [illegible] set. She is a member of the [illegible] Sewing Circle [illegible] belongs to the [illegible] Club.

A sister, Miss Anne Thorp, is one of a group of Boston girls who have just gone to France to [illegible] for the [illegible] soldiers. Two other sisters are the Misses [illegible] and [illegible] Thorp.

Boston society's interest as well as that of New York's is centered in the Madison Square Garden Horse Show, which opens Saturday, November 11. The indications are the exhibition will be one of the greatest on record.

AT ONCE STOPS STOMACH MISERY AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" is quickest and surest stomach relief known.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion, if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.—Advertisement.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

Look at tongue! If feverish, bilious, constipated, take no chances.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Don't scold your fretful peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup. —Advertisement.

MATZENAUER TO SEEK DIVORCE

New York, Oct. 6.—The intention of Mme. Margaret Matzenauer of the Metropolitan Opera Company to bring suit for divorce from Edoardo Ferrari-Fontana, a tenor, has been made known by Herbert Cone, a friend and attorney for Mme. Matzenauer. Her husband is believed to be in the Italian army, but service of the papers will be by publication.

"It is just the usual suit for a divorce," said Mr. Cone, when asked for particulars of the allegations to be made by his client. "The differences are [illegible] of temperament. Mme. Matzenauer is the sanest person imaginable."

$20,000 FOR DANCER FOR LOSS OF FEET

Trenton, Oct. 6.—A Federal Jury has awarded $20,000 damages to Mrs. Dais James of Newark, a former dancer at the Winter Garden, New York, against the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad for the loss of her feet. She was run down [illegible] at the Greenwood Avenue [illegible] of the company in [illegible] June, 1910. She sued for [illegible]

The Great Fifteen

Take Elevator---Second Floor
"A Short Way to Go For So Great a Saving"

FOR some time we have realized that the sale of first-class suits and overcoats for fifteen dollars could be doubled if we were able to sell the greatest values in Boston. We found that a large part of our second floor was not in active demand many months in the year, and by utilizing it we would be able to sell $15 garments without figuring any additional rent. We have more than doubled our sales. It is more than a success, and we are offering this fall suits and overcoats at $15 you would be obliged to pay $5, and in some cases $10, more for elsewhere.

Foster Anxious to Work in Series

By H. W. LANIGAN.

George Foster, the Red Sox crack little right hander, as game and as efficient a box artist as the game ever owned, refuses to be counted out of the big show. Foster's right whip has been ailing him badly for the past two months. In the club's recent road tour, when [illegible] seven of its rivals and nailed down the flag, the Oklahoman was only started once by Bill Carrigan.

That was in St. Louis. Foster worked five innings, when his arm started to fail him and Carrigan [illegible] Dutch Leonard [illegible]. George had his game won before retiring [illegible] in the early [illegible] was [illegible] as swift as [illegible] has been lacking some [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] he was confident he would be able [illegible] if called on by Carrigan. [illegible] is keeping his plans to himself and I don't know whether or [illegible] going on me, so we [illegible] the [illegible] going," said Foster. "[illegible] would gladly give away [illegible] if I knew I was going to get to work at the [illegible] [illegible] and I did get [illegible] games. [illegible] [illegible] up my end [illegible] least one game if Bill calls on me [illegible] for him to start me."

* * *

[illegible] Speaker's many Boston friends have been asking each other [illegible] [illegible] Red Sox clinched the championship if the team's former star hitter and centrefielder extraordinary would be on hand for the World's Series.

One of Spoke's closest friends is Dr. George Tingley. They were [illegible] inseparable during Speaker's [illegible] years in Boston, and last Fall headed a party of sportsmen which spent the greater part of the month of November massacring moose and other big game in New Brunswick.

Dr. Tingley said today that he and Speaker, together with some [illegible] [illegible] pals, planned making the trip again this Fall. Ty Cobb, lead[illegible] of the H. Jennings troupe, who, after topping the American League's swat colony nine years running, was beaten out this year by Speaker, is going to be in the party.

Another noted diamond personage going along is Leslie Nunamaker, the former Red Sox catcher, a member of Jake Stahl's 1912 world's champions, and who has just completed his second successful season with the New York Yankees.

Walter Rehg, another ex-Red Sox and Speaker's particular chum when they were teammates here, may also make the trip. Rehg had a big year with the Providence Grays. He is in a hurry to return to his home at Wichita, Kan., but Spoke wants him to stay East and make the trip, and the chances are Walter will go along.

Speaker and Cobb were reported as being in Montreal today. Whether they intend going on to New Brunswick direct and having Dr. Tingley, Nunamaker and Rehg join them there later, or will come to town for the games Saturday and Monday, remains to be seen. Dr. Tingley is not exactly sure what the two kings of swat intend doing.

Just like Speaker's many other Boston friends, he is in high hopes Spoke will show up for the games—the first two here, anyhow, and nothing would please better all around than to have Cobb on hand with the Red Sox's old ace in-the-hole.

* * *

Four years have wreaked many changes in the personnel of the Red Sox. They were world's champions in 1912. James R. McAleer was the club's president. He is now living in retirement at Youngstown, O. Robert B. McRoy was treasurer. He is now vice-president of the Cleveland Indians. Garland (Jake) Stahl was the manager. He is now president of a bank on Chicago's outskirts.

Counting Stahl, the club's first baseman, the Red Sox numbered twenty-two warriors when they clashed in the big post season games with Johnny McGraw's Giants and duplicated the success of Jimmy Collins' 1903 champions and brought the world's title to Boston.

Of the twenty-two heroes only eight remain on the club and just two others are operating in fast company. Carrigan, Hooper, Lewis, Gardner, Cady, Thomas, Henriksen and Wagner are the eight survivors of the 1912 world's champions.

Lease Nunamaker is with the New York Yankees, while Steve Yerkes, author of the famous scratch fly that sent over the winning run in the tenth inning of the eighth and deciding battle—the series went to eight games that Fall owing to the teams engaging in a tied contest—wound up the current campaign with the Chicago Cubs after having been shunted to the Atlanta (Southern Association) club early in the season.

Pitcher Hugh Bedient, the Red Sox's pitching sensation of the series, was with Roger Bresnahan's Toledo this year. Clyde Engle, understudy for Stahl on first and who also filled in a long stretch subbing for Gardner, got a brief trial by Lee Fohl in Cleveland this Summer but failed to show his old speed and drifted to Topeka in the Western League circuit, where he made good as the club's manager and has been retained for 1917.

Charley Hall was with the St. Louis Nationals at the start of the year but failed to show any of his old time skill and was relegated to the minors in mid-season. Ray Collins has retired and is in the dairy business at Burlington, Vt. "Buck" O'Brien made a herculean effort to make good in the Southern Association this year, but failed on three different clubs and is also out of the game.

Larry Pape, another pitcher; Krug, Neal Ball and Bradley, not to forget Speaker, Stahl and Wood, are the other heroes of the 1912 world's champions now numbered among the absent.

We Keep Banging on Quality

It's only one of the planks in our platform, but it's all important, for under the present abnormal conditions there's a tremendous temptation besetting the mills and makers alike—the temptation to keep the prices down by cheapening the product.

But we refuse to compromise with inferiority. We demand reliable fabrics, and get them. We insist upon high grade tailoring and get that, too. We will not offer our customers anything less than the best the market affords.

So we've kept the quality of our merchandise this season up to the same high standard as in the past but more remarkable still is the fact that we are selling 85% of our goods at just the same prices as last year.

There has never been a time when it was so important that you buy your clothes instead of having them sold to you.

The House of Kuppenheimer

—is just as insistent upon quality as we are. Through our close association with them, we get the cream of the woolens—the most desirable patterns and shades—the hard-finished, long-wearing fabrics—the soft, lustrous flannels—the fine stripes and checks—to say nothing of the fractional sizes and special models with which we fit men who were never properly fitted before.

Suits at $20, $22.50, $25, $30, $35

Low Priced Suits

We had to do some tall skirmishing to get these strictly all wool suits to sell at these low prices, but here they are—some thousands of them—correctly styled and well made, too.

$12.50, $15, $18

Fall Overcoats

We don't know when we've seen a handsomer lot. The styles are catchy, too. Scotch homespuns, heather mixtures and plain colors aplenty. The knitted fabrics are justly popular.

THE WIZARD.

He sits before his type machine, nor shows the slightest sign
That he is breaking arms and legs and spilling blood like wine;
He labors at his brutal task with calm and untroubled air
And mangles athletes left and right without the slightest care.
Behold the cruel smile he wears while pounding on the keys,
And breaking Spike Yellosky's legs an inch above the knees,
And cracking Bill Beefs right arm and seven vertebrae
And smashing half a dozen heads and forty ribs per day!
But hold, dear reader! Do not call the poor galoot a brute,
For, really, he is a kind and gentle-minded galoot
So do not kick him in the spine and heap his head with blame—
He is a clever chap and he can cure as well as maim.
The football players he has maimed in such a wanton way
Will all be healthy, strong and fit to play next Saturday.

HARD DRILL AT TUFTS.

Coach Whelan of Tufts put the first and second elevens through a stiff scrimmage. Frequent shifts [illegible] were made on the varsity, [illegible] Mitchell's place at left for the greater part of the scrimmage. The quarterbacks who ran the varsity were Drummey and Bratt.

Harvard Resting Up for Tufts

Harvard is resting up this afternoon in preparation for its stiff contest tomorrow with Tufts. The final polishing for the Crimson machine will keep the players out of doors but an hour or so, which with a pithy blackboard talk will comprise the day's doings.

The varsity lined up against its own subs yesterday in a twenty-minute set-to and won out when Rufe Bond, from Kokerville (Everett), dropped over three points from the 35-yard line. His drop-kick was from a difficult angle but sailed cleanly over the bar.

Taylor and Caner, the varsity tackles, are both still doing time on the sidelines. Taylor was in togs, and is expected to be used against Tufts. Caner is out of the big show until next week, and Lovell or Wheeler will start in his stead tomorrow.

Norman E. Burbidge, manager, betook himself to the infirmary brigade yesterday suffering with an infected arm. Hampton Root, assistant manager, is therefore to be in the line up tomorrow.

M. C. O. F. LEAGUE ON ALLEYS TONIGHT

The M. C. O. F. Bowling League of Greater Boston will open its season this evening on the North Station Alleys. The lineup for the opening night follows: St. Mark vs. St. Gregory, Columbia vs. St. James, Constantine vs. St. Peter, Highland vs. Holy Trinity, St. Augustine vs. Carroll, Mt. Ida vs. St. John, Dorchester vs. Sts. Peter and Paul. As all the weak teams of last year have been eliminated, the race this year promises to be the hottest in the history of the organization.

Mystic Valley's Schedule Out

At a meeting of the clubs of Greater Boston, comprising the Mystic Valley Interclub Association, held at the Central Club, Somerville, a schedule of games for the season was adopted. The season opens November 13 and covers a period of fourteen weeks, the final games of the series taking place February 28.

The same clubs which composed the league a year ago, when Towanda defeated Melrose in the final games for the league title, again compose the league this year. They are Malden and Kernwood of Malden, Highland of Melrose, Newtowne of Cambridge, Central of Somerville, Towanda of Woburn, Clarendon of Somerville and Melrose of Melrose.

Following is the schedule:

WASH. GOLFERS WIN.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Four Washington golf teams defeated clubs from Baltimore, Richmond and Norfolk in the first round of play in the Middle Atlantic Golf Association's annual championship meet over the Chevy Chase Club course. Semi-finals and finals will be played today.

Watch the Tops at the Ball Games

The ball games offer a royal opportunity to size up the difference between "noisy" extreme styles in soft tops and the kind substantial men buy in the Delano shops—the quiet conservative kind. Note carefully the difference. It pretty nearly gives you a man's calibre. All the new tones in soft tops, imported and domestic, three to five dollars.

Dodgers Will Win by Strength, Says Runyon

By DAMON RUNYON.

New York, Oct. 6.—We cannot desert the old rubber [illegible] Brooklyn, forever!

If your Uncle Wilbert Robinson's noble Flatbush fusiliers fail to w[illegible] the Boston Red Sox in the impending World's Series, the present speaker is going to be vastly astonished, not to say humiliated and chagrined.

We expect the Dodgers to win by that main strength and awkwardness which carried them through to a flag in the National League race.

The Brooklyn Dodgers are a good [illegible] like another [illegible] product of the district, Mr. A. McCoy, the middleweight champion of the world. They are often a most distressing spectacle in their battles, but who knocks 'em out?

CALLED JOKE CHAMPIONS, BUT—

They meet [illegible] more [illegible] opponents and everybody prepares to weep over their sad finish, but at the [illegible] of the contests these Al McCoys of baseball are still in there, upright and whanging away.

Folks say they are joke champions, that they do not constitute the best club in the National League. Folks say the same thing, in a general way, about Al McCoy. None the less Al McCoy is the middleweight title holder, and he won the title by a knockout. None the less, the Dodgers are the champions of their class, and they gathered their victory by slapping the opposition [illegible].

Last Monday afternoon in Brooklyn, with the championship at stake, the Dodgers stepped out and licked the most sensational baseball club of all time, including the lad who is called the greatest left-hander in America.

They beat the New York Giants fresh from the run of twenty-six consecutive victories, [illegible] style from it, as you please—and they beat Ferdinand Schupp, with six straight wins behind him, and one of the greatest curve balls that ever left the paw of a side wheeler.

The Dodgers just naturally had to win and they won.

WIN WHEN THEY HAVE TO.

Throw out the succeeding game if you wish, but don't overlook that opener. That was a test. True, Schupp gave them only a brace of hits, and they won on errors, but they won.

All along the line they won when they had to win.

A singular outfit, often playing half dead and alive baseball, always giving the impression that it was fearful of losing rather than carrying the spirit of confidence that is characteristic of championship clubs, but always winning.

Lacking [illegible] what [illegible] people call aggressiveness [illegible] dangerous knockout punch that [illegible] rising out of the most unexpected [illegible] the Dodgers [illegible] doing to a championship [illegible] everybody was saying that they wouldn't do, that they had no class or baseball courage.

Every time they dropped a critical game the hadjis of the divers [illegible] declared they were [illegible] but the Dodgers always [illegible] themselves and kept [illegible].

Clumsy, slow afoot and, on occasion, mentally detained they seemed, yet they won, they won. And we are picking them to win the World's Series, as we have said, largely on their mere strength and awkwardness.

SHIVERS OF TREPIDATION.

We have some shivers of trepidation when we think of those two tall murderers, Harry Hooper and Duffy Lewis, of the Sox outfield [illegible] but the Brooklyn club also [illegible] pounders.

Also it has the crafty old Jack Coombs, and the not [illegible] crafty Rube Marquard to oppose Ruth, Shore, Leonard and the other star hurlers of the Carrigan corps. Marquard holds two World's Series decisions over a more powerful Red Sox club than the one the Dodgers [illegible] Saturday, and the memory is [illegible] the [illegible] Red Sox [illegible] while the Red Sox pitching staff [illegible] be better than your Uncle Wilbert's [illegible] of moundmen [illegible] there is not a lot to choose. The Red Sox have the best [illegible] the [illegible] whole, but no individual outfielder as good as Zack Wheat.

The infields are about a stand-off. [illegible] Barry plays [illegible] for the Red Sox that may [illegible] but Robinson has [illegible] of the greatest first basemen of his time.

It is believed that Marquard and Leonard will be the opposing pitchers in the first game. There has been some talk that Robinson might start Ed Pfeffer, the [illegible] but it would scarcely be [illegible] when a manager has [illegible] man in top form at [illegible].

BEAT THE GIANTS.

Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson's club closed the National League [illegible] Flatbush by [illegible] the [illegible]. The score was [illegible] to [illegible]. Robby gave [illegible] of his regulars a workout [illegible] game, but had recruits [illegible] to various positions when [illegible] needed.

Appleton [illegible] deal of pitching this [illegible] is not likely to be seen in the series, hurled fairly good ball for the Dodgers, while Jeffy Tesreau and the Luckless Fred Anderson [illegible] pounded [illegible] George Smith [illegible] game [illegible] [illegible] past [illegible].

John J. McGraw [illegible] Giants was not [illegible] during the [illegible] had collapsed [illegible] Shakespeare [illegible] loved a manager after the [illegible] twenty-six-run and intended presenting it to him in the clubhouse.

Ever since McGraw cast his "asparagus" upon the Giants' playing in the Tuesday game the players have not changed their minds about the gift, but they will have to ship it to [illegible] McGraw did not [illegible] have [illegible] reported [illegible] threw out the [illegible] but he [illegible] [illegible] else.

The echoes of the rumpus caused by his observations are dying out. The National Commission is delighted to act as [illegible] the [illegible] McGraw [illegible] [illegible].

McGRAW WILL STICK.

[illegible]

[illegible] Series followers that the Brooklynites take with them some song of sufficient volume to drown the strains [illegible] Bostonians, which has been floating around ball orchards at World's Series time [illegible] way back yonder in 1903." Boston has never yet lost a World's Series and it will probably cling to "Tessie" until it does, which [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Dodgers Robinson will probably use Hi Myers in the outfield instead of Casey Stengel. Jake Daubert is none too strong against left handed ball [illegible].

Star Players and Writers to Report Series for American

The World's Series is the biggest event of the baseball year. The Boston AMERICAN will handle it accordingly. Eight established stars will write of the series for this newspaper.

WILBERT ROBINSON, manager of the Champion Dodgers, is one. He will analyze each game and tell of his plans.

BILL CARRIGAN, manager of the Red Sox, is another. He will tell the inside story of how the games are played.

HUGH FULLERTON, famous baseball statistician, will "figure" the games for the fans.

TAD—The Cartoonist—nuf ced.

DAMON RUNYON, the great descriptive writer, will tell what happened and how it happened.

K. C. B., conductor of one of the most original and entertaining feature columns, will write of fans and ball players and the by-products of the series.

FRANK G. MENKE, sporting editor of the I. N. S., will write sidelights and tell how the runs were made.

BRUNO LESSING, famous short story writer, will strike the "human note."

In addition to these the AMERICAN will be represented by JOHN W. MORAN, JR., HERMAN NICKERSON and H. W. LANIGAN.

To Improve Expression As Well As Complexion

[illegible]

Wrinkles do not of course enhance the expression. Neither do the pasty things many use to eradicate them. A treatment free from all objection is made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel, use as a wash lotion. This soon removes even the most obstinate wrinkles.—Advertisement.

Wives I Might Have Been

The Wife of a Stranger

By JANE M'LEAN.

I wonder if there are many girls in the world who have nearly married [illegible] very well, just because there was [illegible] attraction about them that was hard to resist. This happened to me on board [illegible] when the best looking man [illegible] proposed to me.

They say that the tiniest incident often affects the fate of a kingdom.

Well, if it hadn't been interrupted at a psychological moment, I'm afraid that today I would have been married to Bob, and it would have been an awful tragedy, because we were never made for each other.

We had all been dancing on deck, and I suppose my new green evening gown had had a great deal to do with it, for after a particularly wonderful waltz (and Bob's steps did match mine just wonderfully), Bob said hurriedly:

"Let's take a stroll on deck, Anne, shall we?"

Of course I consented, but I didn't know that Bob was going to take me downstairs on the lower deck where the sea was very near, and the moon on the water was all that [illegible] rave about in books.

Even a very determined girl can be distracted when proposed to in a stage setting like that.

When Bob asked me to marry him, and he did it very well—I don't know what I would have answered if it hadn't been for that little curiosity box [illegible] Bayard.

She had seen us stroll off and she [illegible] brought the Thomas [illegible] down with her to spy on us. Of course she did it just because she was crazy about Bob herself, and Bob couldn't bear the sight of her. He told me so.

"What are you people doing, mooning off here by yourselves?" she said, coming up to us suddenly. After that I didn't have a minute alone with Bob, because it was the last night on board.

Bob isn't married yet, but he is hopelessly unsuited to me. I found this out later, and I am repeating this experience so that other girls can profit by it and be sure to know the man they marry.

It's a dreadful thing to marry a man who has nothing in common with one. Just think, Bob hated to read. He didn't like to talk about anything but dance steps and real estate and the deals he was about to "pull off" as he put it.

He [illegible] like a girl who wasn't a good sport, and the people he knew in the city were people I don't care about at all. I suppose if I had married Bob we should have been tired to death of each other inside of a month.

When I marry at all, I want a man to be "pals" with me. I want him to be ready to respond to my moods, just as I expect to respond to his, and then I could never get tired of him.

Last Christmas I sent a little silver [illegible] to [illegible] Bayard. I never [illegible] her, and I don't think she cares for me very much, but she saved me from marrying Bob and I shall always be grateful.

No Visits for Them

The kirk in a certain Scottish village was in urgent need of repair, and Sandy McNab, a very popular member, had been invited to collect subscriptions for the purpose.

One day the minister met Sandy walking irresolutely along the road. The good man at once guessed the cause.

"Mon Sandy," he said, earnestly, "I'm sorry to see you in this state."

"Ah, weel, it's for the good o' the cause," replied the delinquent, happily. "Ye see, meenister, it's a' through these subscreeptions. I've been down the glen collectin' fun's, an' at every hoose they made me hae a wee drappie."

"Every house! But—but—but surely, Sandy, there are some of the kirk members who are teetotalers?"

"Aye, there are; but I wrote tae [illegible]"

JEWS USHER IN YOM KIPPUR TONIGHT

The Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur, the most sacred of days in the Hebrew religion, starts today at sundown. From then until the same hour tomorrow Orthodox Hebrews throughout the world will observe the event with prayers and fasting. Not a morsel of food or a drop of water will pass their lips during the twenty-four hours while the fast lasts. No work will be undertaken during this period.

The purpose of the Yom Kippur is to complete and crown the work of the penitential season, begun on the first day of the Jewish year 5677—last Thursday—by finally reconciling the soul with the Almighty.

The Day of Atonement, according to tradition, was instituted by Moses. The real aim of the day is the reconciliation of the soul with God. All the external elements of the day's observance are intended to promote this purpose. Fasting is to serve as a self-imposed chastisement and helps the worshiper to fix his thoughts upon the needs of the soul.

STARTS WITH PRAYER.

Wherever a group of Hebrews are gathered, all else will be forgotten at sundown today, and the service ushering in the Yom Kippur will start with the singing of the prayer known as the Kol Nidre service.

This year Yom Kippur will have an added significance. Prayers for peace for all the world, which are part of the usual service, will be recited with an added fervor because of the war.

Tomorrow morning the services start in the orthodox congregations and the temples at 9 o'clock, after which they continue without interruption until sunset. On account of the infantile paralysis epidemic the regular children's service that is held every year between the morning and afternoon services at the Temple Israel, Commonwealth avenue, will not take place this year.

The sublime Neilah prayers constitute the closing services of the day. Here the triumphant note of reconciliation with God sounds clear. The prayers advance in the scale of ecstasy, and the worship of the day culminates in the outburst by the assembled multitude of Israel's great watchword, "Hear, O Israel, the Lord Is Our God, the Lord Is One!"

The demand for seats in the synagogues is so great that halls in the different parts of the city have been converted into synagogues.

SPECIAL COLLECTION.

Special collection boxes have been placed in all corridors of the synagogues, the money to go for the Jewish old men, women and children in the devastated war regions of Europe.

At the Temple Israel Yom Kippur services will commence at 7:30 tonight. The subject of Rabbi Harry Levi's address will be "Personal Equation."

At the Temple Mishkan Tefila, Roxbury, the Kol Nidre services will be held at 6 o'clock this evening. Rabbi Herman H. Rubenovitz will speak on "The New Life."

At the Temple Adath Jeshurun, Roxbury, the services will commence at 5:30 today, and tomorrow's services will begin at 7 a. m. The subject of Rabbi P. Israeli for the Kol Nidre sermon will be "Finished and Unfinished Lives," and the Day of Atonement "Personal Righteousness."

Rabbi M. M. Eichler and Rev. M. Welkowich will be in charge of the services at the Temple Ohabei Shalom, Union Park street, Roxbury.

DELFINO LOSES IN PROSECUTION SUITS

Verdicts for the defendants were returned in the Suffolk Superior Civil Court today, in the suits brought by Ferdinand Delfino, who charged malicious prosecution on the part of George E. Rower, Jr., attorney for the United Garment Workers of America, and others.

Delfino, who is a contracting tailor, was discharged in court June 29, when it was alleged he did not pay his employes on a weekly basis. He then entered suit for $10,000 against Rower, Samuel Zorn, business manager of the union, and John Gangemi, one of his employes, who was a complainant when the first case was heard.

WANAMAKER DENIES OFFER TO SUNDAY

In a telegram today to officials of the Billy Sunday campaign, John Wanamaker, Philadelphia merchant prince, denies that he made an offer to the evangelist to go to Philadelphia to conduct one week's campaign of "Pay Your Debts."

Henry Bond of Brattleboro, Vt., president of the American Radiator Company, formerly president of the Northern Baptist Convention, has sent to Chairman Frank Davidson of the Billy Sunday Evangelistic Committee, a check for $1,000 to be used to defray expenses of Vermont Baptist ministers who desire to attend the revival here.

HEAVY TRADING IN NEW YORK MARKET

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange at noon were irregular after alternate strong and weak movements in trading during the morning. The volume of business, while not so large as yesterday, indicated another million-share day.

High record prices were made by Central Leather, at 83¾, and American Beet Sugar at 100.

American Zinc was a feature, opening with a gain of 3⅝ points to 49 on news that the company was earning about $25 a share on its stock and that the company was negotiating for a big sale of spelter to the entente allies.

Traders showed a tendency to mark time to see which way the market was going. There were no particularly strong or weak stocks, but at noon most of the leading stocks were being supplied at concessions.

Sugars were strong on reports of large sales to Europe. In addition to the new high record by American Beet Sugar, a gain of 1¼ points to 114½ was made by American Sugar Refining.

United States Steel was off ⅝ to 117⅛ at noon. Other losses were Maxwell 1, Studebaker ⅞, Colorado Fuel ⅝, Car & Foundry 1, Steel Foundries 1, Lehigh Valley ¾ and Union Pacific ¾. Among gains were Woolen common ¾, Central Leather 3⅞, Westinghouse ⅞, Utah Copper ¾, Canadian Pacific ⅞ and Reading ⅞.

The Boston market, while not very active, was featured by trading in American Zinc. Prices were irregular at noon. Swift & Co. at 165½ again registered a new high record.

Boston & Maine responded to the report of the biggest yearly earnings in history with another point gain to 46. Other gains were Quincy Mining 1, Copper Range ⅝, United Shoe ⅜ and Butte & Superior ¾. Atlantic Gulf and U. S. Smelting were fractionally lower.

There was talk among traders that copper stocks were being quietly accumulated by certain interests in anticipation of further advance.

CHILDREN BURNED BY HOT PENNIES

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 6.—Irate Braddock parents today are looking for the world's "meanest man," with "blood in their eyes." He qualified for the title when in response to the clamor of a score of children serenading Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stuffle at the bride's home, he threw a handful of hot pennies from an upper window. The shower of hot coin burned several children about the head and face and others were burned trying to pick up the coppers.

New York Loan for Dublin Dwellings

By WILLIAM BARRETT,

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Dublin, Oct. 6.—Great interest is manifested here in the announcement that Dublin's housing problem may be solved through the help of an American loan.

It became known today that the National City Bank of New York has offered $1,000,000 at five and one-half per cent. The housing committee of the Dublin corporations recommended the acceptance of the offer. The amount is to cover the cost of a scheme for workers' dwellings. A special meeting of the corporations next week will consider the offer.

We Apologize to the Laundrymen

They Do NOT Put in a Shirt as Many Pins as It Will Hold

Copyright, 1916, by the Star Company.

THE shirt comes home from the laundry. The owner sits down, like one before a picture puzzle, silently, sullenly removing pins that the laundryman has put into the shirt.

Some of the pins are rusted in, and thumb nails are broken getting them out.

Some pins seem to have a point only, no head. The patient owner turns the shirt over and over, explores it inside and out, rumples and musses it thoroughly, then solves each pin-head problem.

He finds nearly all of the pins. One or two find him after he puts the shirt on—and that is life as the laundrymen make it.

We firmly believed and have publicly asserted that laundrymen hire competent engineers to draw plans for putting into a shirt as many pins as the shirt can possibly hold. We discover, however, that this is not true; we retract the statement and apologize to the laundrymen.

The man who makes a NEW shirt and sells it to you is the man who really has solved the pin problem and learned how to put into a shirt more pins than any other living human being.

For instance:

A man bought a new shirt, with all the qualities of a new shirt. The sleeves were much too long, of course, and somebody had to take a "tuck" in each. It was made so that if the wearer ever happened to increase forty inches in his waist girth it would still be big enough.

As regards pins, this new shirt was on the surface innocent. Not a pin to be seen anywhere, not an indented spot to indicate that a pin was hiding.

The man held it by the collar, shook it gently. It did not "come out," but remained a neatly folded shirt, arms, tails, all firmly folded. There was mystery there, which was cautiously probed.

We hesitate to mention the weight of the pins taken from this one harmless looking new shirt.

And we cannot enumerate in detail the marvellous proofs of ingenuity that the pin engineer demonstrated.

You have seen the picture of some ancient holy man, with his left hand against his left breast, his right hand against his right breast, in deep contemplation. The shirt was pinned in that attitude.

You leaned your head sidewise, and forward, closed one eye and put your finger cautiously inside the cuff, and found nothing.

You started up the cuff, then came down, and the point of one pin rewarded you.

You stopped and reasoned. It was a shirt with the cuffs folding back. You went sidewise and slowly in between the two cuff folds and you found the head of a pin. You stuck it in the pincushion and that was done.

You went through the same operation on the other cuff, and got another pin. Still the shirt maintained its attitude of adoration or supplication. The little cuffs remained fastened against the shirt breasts.

"What to do?" as the Japanese would say.

Those two pins had nothing to do with holding up the little shirt hands. They were just there to hold the cuffs together, as though glued.

Two more were there to hold the cuffs together. You found one; the other, like Kipling's ship, found itself.

Still the hands of the shirt were pressed against the bosom. Underneath the bosom of the shirt, only to be unearthed after you had first unpinned the shirt tails, you found the retaining pins that held the sleeves to the chest.

Unpinning the tails of a new shirt is a task. When you pulled the tail feathers out of an old turkey gobbler unless he were very thoroughly scalded—you were apt to deform the Thanksgiving ornament.

Taking pins from new shirt tails without tearing those tails from their foundation is much more difficult than picking an old gobbler.

Each tail was pinned UP. Each SIDE of each tail was pinned DOWN, because it was necessary to fold them over neatly.

Each shoulder was pinned to the back of the shirt in a curious way.

Because editorial space is so valuable we cannot tell you any more about the pins in that shirt. But a new game should be started in the United States, and it should be called "UNPINNING THE SHIRT."

When a new shirt arrives the baby should be tied in his crib. The family should sit about the table, under the warm glow of the evening lamp, each member of the family having a soup plate in front of him. Each should pick pins industriously for a limited space of time, say fifteen minutes.

At the end of that time the member of the family having the largest heap of pins in his soup plate and the fewest pricked fingers should get a prize.

Thus by making a game of that which is now a hard duty some sorrow could be taken out of life.

We started this editorial to apologize to laundrymen and say we were mistaken in our idea that they put into each shirt as MANY pins as one shirt can hold. They do not. For a Winter's supply of pins get a new shirt.

More Truth Than Poetry

Sure of a Comeback

We don't know what the Colonel will call the minister who referred to him as a "monstrous survival of the pliocene age," but it will be something shorter, uglier and more interesting.

Exploding a Myth

In spite of the popular suspicion that men have a frightfully gay time when their wives have gone to the country, the Postal Savings deposits jumped five million dollars in the month of August.

A Small Oversight

Mr. Wilson says that the Democrats have practically enacted the Progressive platform into law, which is a lot more than they have done with the Democratic platform.

Too Horrible to Contemplate

The Authors' Union could strike without inflicting any particular damage on the public. But supposing the movie scenario writers struck in sympathy!

Just Fits

The toast, "Here's to the dead already, and here's to the next to die," seems peculiarly adapted for a dinner to Pancho Villa.

Still Bound by the Old Ties

Apparently the Progressives have not strayed so far from the G. O. P. fold that they can't get back for the Old Home Week in November.

Be Careful

The Milk Trust View

Of course, if the poor cannot obtain milk they can drink cream.

Moving Day

THERE'S a crash of smashing dishes on the pavement down below,
There's a bump against the curbstone and a savage cry of "Whoa!"
"Bing!" the phonograph is shattered! "Bang!" there goes the baby grand!
"Jingle jingle" sing the fragments of the new umbrella stand.
"Zip!" a nimble-footed youngster'smaking off with Willie's drum—
All of which events inform us that the moving man has come.

NOW they're taking in a bureau, handling it with loving care,
But be not too optimistic, they will smash it on the stair!
Look the other way a minute; you can hardly bear the shock
If you see the fragmentation of the old grandfather's clock.
What was that that just was splintered by the parlor curtain pole?
Anything that matters greatly? No, it was the goldfish bowl?

THERE are father's private letters blowing wildly left and right,
And the neighbors catch and read 'em with the most intense delight.
What is that strange thing reposing on the willow rocking chair
Which the passersby are eyeing? Sister Susie's extra hair!
Through the doorway of the wagon floats a form of green and gray,
It's the parrot screaming curses as he hies himself away!

SOON we'll sit amid the ruins of the things we all held dear,
While the gloaming of October falls around us chill and drear,
And we'll summon from our fancy all the ill-luck that we can
And we'll wish it with a vengeance on the wretched moving man.
But next morning at the window we will watch and wait and grin,
And forget our trials and troubles while the other folks move in.

Baffling

Washington, too, has its censorship. All the chambers of commerce of the country can learn about the sites of the new armor plate plants is that they will be "somewhere in America."

How to Make 'Em Invincible

What frightful engines of destruction those British tanks would be with a few metropolitan joy-riding chauffeurs at their wheels!

He Simply Can't Do It

In spite of Mr. Roosevelt's well-known aversion to having his picture taken, certain foolish people think they can get him to pose for a film!

Time for Prompt Action

If the allies really want to make that drive effective they had better hurry it along, for no one will pay any attention to it when the post-season series starts.

Evening Things Up

Old Doc Bryan is so firmly convinced that Hughes' speeches are helping Wilson that is is going to offset them by stumping for Wilson himself.

Plausible Theory

Perhaps Mr. Hughes is one of those men who took an early oath never to shave till he became President.

The Sweets of Revenge

Whenever the Serbians chase the Bulgarians the Bulgarians chase the Rumanians, keeping the balance about even.

The English Sparrow Is Not Only a Pest, but an Enemy of Man

California Is Right, Says Garrett P. Serviss, in Waging War on a Dirty, Quarrelsome Bird Which Will Eat the Farmers' Crops, but Refuses to Help Exterminate Noxious Insects

By Garrett P. Serviss

I HAVE received from the California Fish and Game Commission a "Teachers' Bulletin" concerning the war on sparrows, for such a war there is, and its unrelenting nature can be judged from this injunction, which I find in the bulletin:

"Destroy the house sparrow, or 'English sparrow,' whenever and wherever possible, through netting, trapping and shooting. Destroy nests and eggs, and raid roosting places of this bird."

The Sparrow Has Not a Single Redeeming Feature, Say U. S. Bird Experts

That is a war decree of the most savage type, only to be justified against an enemy in whose favor nothing can be said, and whose destruction is essential to the peace and well-being of the rest of the world. If the interests of man alone are considered, very likely the justification exists, for naturalists seem to be unanimous in condemning the English sparrow as an incorrigible foe to our native songbirds and to the farmer.

The farmer wants to preserve his crops, and has no objection to bird music, or to the sight of brilliant plumage flashing about his fields and gardens. The English sparrow loves all kinds of fruit, the buds on trees and vines, sprouting vegetables, the grains of wheat and other cereals, when newly sown, when pushing out of the ground, when ripening in the heads, and when put up in shocks.

All these are charges in the indictment brought by the U. S. Biological Survey, which, in name at least, must appear formidable even to so pugnacious and fearless a creature as the sparrow.

It is the sparrow's misfortune that he wants the very things that man wants. If it were he that carried a gun, then it would be we that were the "pest" to be shot, netted, trapped, whenever and wherever possible, and to have our nests and young destroyed and our roosting places raided without mercy.

Not Only Does the Sparrow Do No Good, but He Has a Nerve-Racking Voice

On the other hand, if he loved noxious insects we would let him alone, and there would be no sparrow war; but, because he dislikes eating bugs and worms and enjoys the flavor of berries and cream, we declare war to the knife upon him.

No doubt this is justice—humanly interpreted. Why were we given "dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth," if a little chattering sparrow is to be allowed to eat the grain that we ourselves want to eat, or that we may prefer to leave rotting in the fields?

But what the sparrow eats and neglects to eat is not the whole source of his troubles with his neighbor man. He has what to everybody but himself seems a very disagreeable temper. He is accused of continual quarrelling, and his voice when he is in a crowd certainly confirms the accusation. It is high-keyed, snapping, snarling, imperious, petulant, nerve-shattering. He drives the other birds away, not so much by attacking them as by making the neighborhood unendurable to them.

The sweet-voiced birds, like the goldfinch and the song sparrow, prefer to emigrate rather than harbor with this "avian rat." And not only the singers and the native birds of beautiful plumage are driven away by the impudent interloper, but the insect-eaters and caterpillar-eaters go also. This is a direct injury to the farmer and the gardener, because, since the sparrow himself disdains six-legged and many legged game, the crops suffer from the ravages of the crawling hordes unchecked.

Yet He Is So Companionable with Man That He Loves to Live in Cities

All things considered, then, the sparrow war is probably justifiable, and yet I myself would not shoot a sparrow—at least not without great provocation. The sparrow is a great friend to man, if preference for a person's company can be taken as a proof of friendship, and companionableness is a quality hard to resist.

He likes to live near houses, as the name "house-sparrow" shows, and he is very fond of city life. He loves pavements and the litter of neglected streets and backyards. He is as omnipresent, as impertinent, as curious, as disregardful of dirt, as presumptuous and as democratic as a fly. And he always considers himself invited. He has no self-consciousness and no shame. If he had had a good voice it is doubtful if all his many shortcomings would have sufficed to bring about the almost universal condemnation under which he now rests.

We in the Eastern States have known him so long that we are apt to forget that he is a foreigner by origin, but on the Pacific Coast they first saw him at the Golden Gate in 1871 or 1872. He did not appear in Los Angeles until 1908, and there are some places in Southern California which do not yet know him. But they dread him, for California has beautiful and melodious birds which everybody wants to keep, and it is no wonder that the ornithological vigilantes are after him.'
